Bihar's 10dulkar to take oath today

Stage set for Nitish 10.0; the focus now shifts to the contours of the new Bihar cabinet after a historic return of NDA

PATNA

Nitish Kumar is set to take the oath as the Chief Minister of Bihar for a record 10th time, leading a new National Democratic Alliance (NDA) government.

The NDA on Wednesday unanimously elected Nitish Kumar as the coalition's legislative party leader in the Bihar Assembly. He was elected as leader of the JDU legislature party in a meeting at the party office earlier. He followed it up by tendering his resignation to Governor Arif Mohammad Khan and staking a claim to form the new government. He also submitted the list of all 202 NDA MLAs to the Governor.

Khan accepted Nitish's resignation and invited him to form the new government. He also asked him to continue as the caretaker chief minister till then. The 17th Bihar Legislative Assembly was also dissolved (on Wednesday) as per the recommendations of the state cabinet submitted to the governor.

Senior NDA leaders Union minister Chirag Paswan, outgoing deputy chief ministers Samrat Choudhary, Vijay Kumar Sinha, outgoing Bihar minister Vijay Kumar Choudhary, Rajya Sabha member Upendra Kushwaha and others accompanied him to the Raj Bhavan.

The newly-elected BJP lawmakers chose Samrat Choudhary as their legislative party leader and Vijay Kumar Sinha as deputy leader. They will continue as Bihar deputy chief ministers.

The swearing-in ceremony of the new government will be held at Patna's historic Gandhi Maidan on Thursday. Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Union Home Minister Amit Shah, and other BJP leaders and chief ministers from the NDA-ruled states are expected to attend the ceremony amid tight security arrangements in place.

The NDA stormed to power in Bihar, winning 202 seats in the 243-member assembly, with the BJP bagging 89, the JDU 85, the LJP(RV) 19, the HAM 5 and the RLM 4.

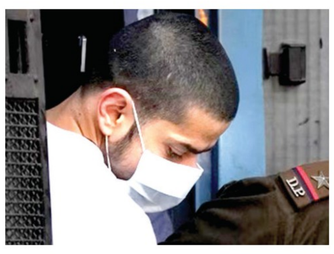
NIA gets 11-day custody of gangster Bishnoi

NEW DELHI

Anmol Bishnoi, brother and close associate of jailed gangster Lawrence Bishnoi, was produced before the special National Investigation Agency (NIA) Court at Patiala House here on Wednesday following his arrest after his deportation from the US to India on Tuesday.

The NIA secured 11-day custody of the gangster, who is accused in the Baba Siddique assault case as well as the conspiracy behind the murder of Punjabi singer Sidhu Moosewala.

According to sources, the NIA discreetly moved Anmol out of the Delhi Airport due to security concerns before bringing him to court.



In a statement, the NIA said Anmol is the 19th accused to be arrested for his involvement in the terror-syndicate led by his brother Lawrence. He had been on the run since 2022 and was charged in March 2023 for allegedly helping his brother and designated 'terrorist' Goldy Brar carry out terror activities between 2020 and 2023.

He is a key accused in the murder of Baba Siddique, a former Maharashtra minister and Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) leader, who was shot dead in Mumbai last year, it stated.

He also faces at least 18 criminal cases, including his alleged involvement in the firing outside Bollywood actor Salman Khan's residence in April last year and the murder of a Punjabi Singer, Sidhu Moosewala, in 2022. Originally from Punjab's Fazilka district, Anmol was on NIA's list of 'most wanted' individuals and has a reward of ₹10 lakh on his name.

The NIA further stated that Anmol escaped India using a forged passport, travelling through Nepal, then moving to Dubai and Kenya before eventually making his way to the US.

NIA charges against Anmol Bishnoi

- Actively aided designated individual terrorist Goldy Brar and Lawrence Bishnoi in the commission of various acts of terrorism in the country during the 2020-2023 period.
- Ran terror syndicates and executed terrorist acts, in association with the Bishnoi gang, while hiding in the US.
- Actively engaged in extortion in India from the foreign soil with the help of other gangsters.
- Extended logistical support to shooters and their ground operatives of the Lawrence Bishnoi gang.

Hawk Force inspector martyred during anti-Naxal op

MUMBAI

Inspector Ashish Sharma of the Madhya Pradesh Police's elite anti-Naxal unit, the Hawk Force, was martyred in action during an early-morning encounter with armed Naxal cadres in the dense forests near the MP–Chhattisgarh–Maharashtra tri-junction on Wednesday. Ashish (40), a decorated officer with two gallantry medals, sustained fatal bullet injuries and succumbed.

Corpus fund of ₹1 cr to be set up in KSPCB: CM

BENGALURU

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Wednesday said that a corpus fund of ₹1 crore would be set up in Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB).

Speaking at the Golden Jubilee celebrations of the KSPCB, he said that programmes would be organised every year from the interest earned from this deposit. An award would be instituted in the name of environmentalist Saalumarada Thimmakka, who passed away recently, and five environmentalists would be awarded annually.

He appealed to the citizens to join hands with the government to make Bengaluru plastic-free by 2030. "Bengaluru city alone generates 900 tonnes of plastic. It can become plastic-free only if only through public awareness and people join hands with the government," the CM said.

He said that Bengaluru was often criticised as a garbage city, but the government's goal was to make it garbage-free.

Statistics play a vital role in research: Dr Paramashivaiah

MYSURU

Dr P.Paramashivaiah, senior professor and dean, Department of Studies & Research in Commerce, Tumkur University, Tumkur said as many as four crore students are working in the country in IT platform - Google and IT, Swiggy, Zomato, Amazon, Flipkart.

Speakinf at a two-day hands-on experience workshop on Statitstical data analysis using SPSS at Teresian College here, he said in Bangalore, out of 2 crores, 4 lakh students are working on online platforms. So if they take the example of Mysore KSOU, 50,000 students are studying along with working. So this is what they are going to see in the last 10 years after globalization because everything has changed. Students' mentality has changed, students' perception has changed, students' learning has changed, students' interest has changed.

The scholar said when they are going to say in the management: today's newspaper will become tomorrow's waste paper. Today's newspaper will become tomorrow's waste paper. They say start early, drive slowly, reach safely. And also the population of USA is 32 crores (320 million). Indian students in that country are 68 crores (680 million - this appears to be an error in the speech). American population is 32 crores, Indian students are 68 crores. A lot of research is also going to take place in most of the fields. If they take the example of India, they are almost producing around 26,000 PhDs per year compared to 40,000 in USA, around 30,000 in UK, around 26,000 in Germany, around 25,000 in other European countries. Research is one of the very important factors for using the analysis of the problem.

Dr Paramashivaiah said from India, 96,000 reels are uploaded every day that's why it is very difficult to see all the reels. That's why students are busy with social media. They are having 144 crore (1.44 billion) population. 116 crore (1.16 billion) mobile phones are working. Out of 116 crores, 90 crores are using mobile on internet. And 14 hours they are using - less than 30 years of students like them - 14 hours. "When you take the example of international statistics: 9 hours in USA, 7 hours in Sri Lanka, 8 hours in Japan, 6 hours in UK and all European countries - less than 14 hours. Whether it is good or not, I am not discussing, I am not saying, I am not criticizing".

He said if they take the data or statistics of the Government of Karnataka budget, it said our Karnataka government budget is Rs 4,49,200 crores, out of which, more than 3 lakh crores come from Bangalore only. They are having around 3,800 software companies operating in Bangalore. From Bangalore we are exporting more than 97,000 crores worth of software exports. So the government target is 1 lakh 50,000 crores by 2030. So that is the reason: they must always have the statistical tools, statistics to understand the reason why it is increasing. Government of Karnataka has done the HRMS 1.0 for getting the salary for both - all the government employees are going to get the data every day. In Bangalore, Bangalore City Traffic Police - it's one of the highest fines collected in India: 236 crores they have collected last year.

He said statistical analysis is very important. By 2050, Indian population will be 175 crores (1.75 billion). Bangalore population will be 10 crores (100 million). Urbanization is becoming a challenge for the government. Government is going for wide urbanization. Now everybody wants to stay in the urban area. "We are having two brains: left brain and right brain. Left brain is always thinking brain. Right brain is always doing brain. Left brain says everything is available on Google, why you are going to attend the classes? But this type of superiority complex, it is not very important for understanding of the concept of things.

Recently, one of the July month in Bangalore, Swiggy has delivered 16,000 breakfasts from morning 7 o'clock to before 11 o'clock. It is a Guinness record. So always we talk about statistics. So how you are going to use the statistics? This is very important. Maybe qualitative data, maybe quantitative data.

Dr T.A.Binoy, professor, Department of Tourism Studies, Central University of Kerala, Dr Sister Rohini, principal, Dr Veena M.D'Almeida, director of Research, Dr P.M.Shiva Prasad, Vivek Charles were present.

Research is protection and continuation of truth: Hamsalekha

MYSURU

Research is the protection and continuation of truth; research scholars must never forget that they have to walk on the path of truth," advised renowned music composer Hamsalekha.

Speaking after inaugurating the Mysore University Research Scholars Association for the academic year 2025–26 and the Constitution Day celebration at the Humanities Auditorium, Manasagangotri, Mysore University here on Wednesday, he said just as watering a plant and nurturing it is essential for its growth, nurturing the seed of truth and helping it progress is also research. Every research scholar is like an island and stands unique. Many such unique individuals coming together has formed this association today. It is special that this association, which strives to advance truth through research, is being inaugurated. It is natural that enthusiasm begins to fade as associations grow older. However, it is very important to continue to follow the path shown during Kuvempu's era. Hamsalekha asked research scholars who have entered the field of research with hope and dreams to meditate deeply on their subject until they attain accuracy. Once clarity is achieved, their research topic will gradually yield results. They must develop the habit of aspiring to climb higher and higher. Along with that, they should never forget to walk on the path of truth. Education expert Shripad Bhat spoke about Mysore University and the Research Scholars Association.

Vice Chancellor Prof. N.K. Lokanath presided. Former Mayor Purushotham, University Registrar Dr. M.K. Savitha, Dalit leader Ahinda Jawarappa, journalist Rashmi Koti, progressive thinker Savitha P. Mallesh, Syndicate member Nataraj Shivanna, Kyatanahalli Nagaraj, advocate Shivaprasad, Naveen Maurya, S. Maridevayya, Research Scholars Association President Varahalli Anand, and others were present.

Congress claimed to cross double digits; but failed to cross single digit: JDS leader

MYSURU

In order to further strengthen the Janata Dal (Secular) in rural and urban areas and to inform people about the journey of the party over 25 years and the achievements during the governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and H.D. Kumaraswamy, a series of programmes have been planned on November 21 and 22 to mark the party's silver jubilee celebrations, announced JD(S) Working President Sa. Ra. Mahesh.

Addressing a press meet here on Wednesday, he said former PM H.D. Deve Gowda and Union Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy have been leading a regional party with conviction. These two leaders have spent more time fighting for the people than being in power. During their short periods in administration, they introduced several people-friendly programmes that earned public appreciation. Those who once claimed that the JD(S) story had ended in Karnataka also said the party would not cross double digits. But now, in Bihar, they have not even managed to cross a single digit, and the Congress has collapsed.

Mahesh said as part of the silver jubilee celebrations, programmes will be held in various Assembly constituencies of Mysuru city and rural areas. Senior leaders and party workers will be honored, fruits will be distributed in local hospitals, temple poojas will be offered, and awareness will be created among the public about the contributions made to Mysuru and Karnataka during the tenure of Deve Gowda and Kumaraswamy.

The former minister further criticised that although the CM Siddaramaiah from this district built his own party, everyone knows how many seats the party won and in which districts they won.

To a question, he said except for the presidents of the national, state and youth wings of JD(S), all office-bearers will be replaced. District and City Presidents and office-bearers will be changed, and those who can dedicate time to strengthen the party will be given responsibilities.

Speaking about Chamundeshwari MLA G.T. Devegowda, he said the senior leader is currently busy with the Cooperative Week programmes. He is always invited to party meetings and conventions. But why is his son, MLA G.D. Harish Gowda, not actively involved in organisational work? he questioned.

Revoke Safari Ban Immediately

Mahesh urged the government to immediately withdraw the ban on the safari. Instead of taking scientific measures to prevent man-animal conflict, banning the safari is not right. The ban must be lifted at once and safaris should resume. Protecting wildlife is important, but so is human life. Thousands of families depend on tourism-related livelihood," he said.

Odissi Dance Festival in Mysuru

MYSURU

The fourth edition of Odissi Dance festival will be held on November 23 at 5:30 pm at Jagannath Centre for Art and Culture, Vijayanagar, Mysuru.

It is organized by Rudra Nritya Yoga School and its dance guru, Sindhu Kiran, who has made a distinct mark in the dance field.

In a press release here, Pruthe Havaldar, an Odissi dancer said eminent Odissi dancers from across the state will take part in this festival. As chief guests for the event, the president of Mysuru Sri Krishna Gana Sabha Sridhar Raj Urs, president of Puri Jagannath Cultural and Welfare Committee Ghanashyam, working president of Mysuru Yoga Union Dr. B.P. Moorthy, Odissi artiste and director of Aryadhana Foundation K. Jyotirmayi Patnaik, and renowned Mysuru dancer Badari Divyabhushan will participate.

Pruthe further stated that the festival is being organised by Odissi maestro Sindhu Kiran along with Puri Jagannath Cultural and Welfare Society president Ghanashyam Pradhan, Kaziranga University Chancellor Dr. Prashant Kumar Mishra, Mindful Living, Rudra Nritya Yoga School family and its students. Guru Sindhu Kiran, Rudra Nritya Yoga School well-wisher and journalist Dr. Vaidyanath H.U., dancer Avina (also a disciple of Sindhu Kiran), were present at the press conference.

₹100 Crore for Urdu Schools: But Who Will Save Karnataka's Kannada Schools?

MYSURU

A noted neurologist and BJP leader, Dr. Shushrutha Gowda said that Karnataka's public education system is passing through one of its most challenging transitions. At a time when the state ought to be focusing on strengthening foundational learning, addressing teacher shortages, and rebuilding infrastructure, it has instead chosen a path that raises uncomfortable questions about priorities, equity, and long-term vision.

Dr Gowda said available data paints a deeply troubling picture. Nearly 4,500 Kannada-medium schools are expected to shut down or be merged in the coming years. Karnataka may face a shortage of more than one lakh teachers by 2026. Single-teacher schools continue to exist in several rural regions. More than 36,000 classrooms are lacking across the state, and over 17,000 schools are unable to claim development funds because they do not possess proper land or Khatha documents. Basic amenities such as functional toilets, safe drinking water, science laboratories, and compound walls remain absent in a large number of institutions. The number of zero-enrolment schools has crossed 270. These challenges reflect not only infrastructural deficits but a broader policy neglect that threatens the future of Kannada-medium education.

He said the state government's decision to allocate ₹100 crore to develop 100 Urdu-medium schools into Karnataka Public Schools is, by itself, a progressive move. Enhancing minority education, improving infrastructure, and offering bilingual learning opportunities are essential components of an inclusive democracy. This initiative deserves appreciation. Yet, the contrast cannot be ignored. If targeted, generous investments can be made to uplift 100 Urdu-medium schools, why is a similar sense of urgency not extended to thousands of Kannada-medium schools that are in visible decline? The issue is not about supporting Urdu-medium education—it absolutely should be supported. The concern is the stark imbalance in priorities. Linguistic inclusivity must not translate into selective generosity that leaves Kannada-speaking children neglected in their own state.

A Policy Imbalance That Cannot Be Ignored

Although the government repeatedly says that Kannada-medium schools are not facing a shortage of funds, the reality on the ground contradicts this assertion. The recurring neglect, administrative delays, and lack of systemic investment suggest a worrying imbalance in the way language-based educational development is being handled. True educational equity cannot be achieved through selective prioritisation; it requires consistent, fair, and culturally respectful investment across all linguistic groups.

As a doctor, social worker, and responsible citizen of Karnataka, he finds it imperative to voice concern over the neglect faced by Kannada-medium schools. While the government's investment in Urdu-medium schools is commendable and necessary, the persistent marginalisation of Kannada-medium institutions is neither rational nor sustainable. Karnataka needs an education policy grounded in fairness, linguistic responsibility, and long-term vision. Revitalising Kannada-medium schools is essential not only for educational progress but for safeguarding Karnataka's identity, heritage, and future, he added.

EYE SCREENING FOR SPECIALLY-ABLED KIDS HELD

MYSURU

As many as 398 specially-abled children underwent comprehensive eye screening during the camp.

In a press release here, M.Rahul Dev, Secretary, Mysore Race Club Charitable Trust, said a free eye-care support-including eye drops, guidance, and preventive care advice was provided to all the beneficiaries.

The medical guidance and counselling were led by Dr Ganesh Satyamurthy, VR surgeon who emphasized the importance of early detection, regular vision check-ups, and parental awareness in ensuring better eye health outcomes for children with special needs. AIISH officials thanked the Mysore Race Club Charitable Trust for its continued support and expressed that such collaborative initiatives play a key role in improving the quality of life of specially-abled children.

Conservation of Kukkarahalli Tank: MGP presents preliminary report to UoM Registrar

MYSURU

A delegation of Mysuru Grahakara Parishat led by its founder Bhamy V.Shenoy met M. K. Savitha, Registrar of the University of Mysore, and explained in detail the present condition of Kukkarahalli Lake.

He stressed the importance of conserving the lake and, most importantly, clearing the entire main drainage channel. The University must write to the concerned departments to initiate this work. If this task is completed before the monsoon season, it will significantly improve the water quality of the lake and help in its conservation.

Shenoy said the MGP has prepared a five-page preliminary report, including major recommendations, along with a suggested panel of experts comprising the Deputy Commissioner, Vice-Chancellor, Registrar, and other specialists. This report was submitted to the Registrar during the meeting. Responding to this, Savitha said that a meeting will soon be convened at the University of Mysore to discuss the matter. Plans will be formulated after assessing the feasibility, benefits, and challenges associated with the work. A new boat (for boating activities) is being procured for the lake, and boating services will start soon. University staff will be assigned to maintain cleanliness, repair toilets, and undertake measures to protect the lake's beauty. MGP Director D.V. Dayanand Sagar and Suma Shenoy were present.

MCC Chief asks Safai Karmacharis to undergo regular health checkup

MYSURU

Mysuru City Corporation Commissioner Shaikh Tanveer Asif regretted that nearly 60 per cent of the safai karmacharis working hard to keep the city clean have not got done their health checkup free of cost with the designated private hospitals with which the MCC was associated.

Speaking after inaugurating one day workshop on the condition of 'Safai Karmacharis' organized by Dr Babu Jagjeevan Ram Study, Research and Extension Centre of Karnataka State Open University here on Wednesday, he said the MCC has tied with several private hospitals for the periodic health checkup of the poura karmikas who are in the payroll of the corporation. According to information available, only 40 per cent of them have undergone the free checkup and the rest have not got done. This should not happen since the MCC is interested in the health of every safai karmacharis who work hard to keep the city clean. They must also give their attention towards their health. The Pourakarmikas Association President and former mayor Narayan must convince the safai karmacharis to undergo the medical checkup camp compulsorily.

Giving rich tributes to former deputy prime minister and the architect of the Green Revolution, the commissioner said Dr Babu Jagjeevan Ram for chalking out various programs for the uplift of the safai karmacharis across the country, and opined that there is a need for another Babu for India to further work for their betterment. Some of the schemes had improved the safai karmacharis socially, economically and financially. In Karnataka, the state government too has announced a number of welfare schemes for their wellbeing. If Mysuru had been getting awards for being the cleanest city, the credit must go to these safai karmacharis for their hard work and dedication.

Advising people not to litter garbage on streets, Dr Asif said the citizens keep their houses and the surrounding inside the compound wall clean but throw the garbage on the streets. It was true that the job of the safai karmacharis is to keep the city clean but their work can be reduced by segregating the waste at home and handing over the same to them. The people must stop dirtying the city by throwing the garbage in the street corners or the main roads after the sunset. The citizens must understand that it is their city and they must help the local body to keep the city clean. In Japan, the people are so proud of their country that they daily wash and clean the garbage collection vehicles to prevent dirtying the streets from those vehicles. The people strongly believed in the 'cleanliness is like godliness' and keep their city neat and tide. Such kind of attitude must be developed by the citizens to save their city from the various kinds of pollution.

Rajesh G.Gowda, director, Dr Babu Jagjeevan Ram Research Centre, Social Welfare Department, Bengaluru, Former mayor Narayana and Prof Sharanappa V Halase, vice-chancellor, KSOU, Mysuru were present.

"Time for Hindu Shakti to Rise!" - MLA Yatnal's Fire in Mysuru

MYSURU

Suspended BJP MLA Basangouda Patil Yatnal called upon the Hindus to unite to prevent Karnataka from going the way of West Bengal or Kerala where the Hindus are crushed.

Delivering a thunderous, passionate and emotional speech in Mysuru on Wednesday, he warned Hindus that they are facing the most dangerous phase in independent India under the appeasement-driven, anti-Hindu regime of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah. The Congress Government in the State has been appeasing Muslims and diverting funds worth crores of rupees for their welfare. The CM had recently said that his government would earmark Rs 10,000 crore for the uplift of the Muslim community to bring them to the mainstream of society. While the Muslims are having a field day, the majority Hindus are being snubbed. The Congress has always flourished by betraying Hindus and dividing society, and the present situation in Karnataka is proof of history repeating itself.

The MLA said today, temples are attacked, Hindu festivals are restricted, agitators against Hindus are rewarded, and the government looks away. Is this secularism or state-sponsored discrimination?" Yatnal questioned, as the crowd erupted in chants. The Ganesha immersion procession had been targeted by the Muslim fundamentalists and such incidents had happened in Nagamangala and Maddur in Mandya district. Should the majority Hindus sit as ducks and suffer all the humiliation meted out by the state government? The CM Siddaramaiah is selectively targeting Hindu organisations while giving state patronage to groups promoting separatist tendencies. Upon questioning, the CM said he too was a Hindu in his name there is Lord Rama. But in his heart, Siddaramaiah wanted to get converted into Muslim. "Who's preventing the CM from embrasing Islam, let him not delay it. He can get converted today or tomorrow".

In a blazing reference to history, the former union minister reminded the crowd how Dr B.R. Ambedkar was humiliated and denied respect by Congress when he was alive, only to later be used as a convenient poster. Ambedkar fought for social justice, not for vote-bank appeasement. Congress did not respect him when he fought for the oppressed. Today they hide behind his statue to seek votes from Dalits, he thundered, saying that the party that never allowed Ambedkar to draft the first Cabinet did not have moral authority to use his name today. He was denied a piece of land in Delhi to lay his mortal remains to rest. The body was taken to Mumbai where his last rites had been performed. Today, the Congress leaders talk in length about the Constitution. Dr Ambedkar, in his book, had demanded that all the Muslims of India must be sent to Pakistan and bring back all the Hindus from Pakistan to India as they don't have trust in the Constitution. The Congress Party had been openly appeasing the Muslims who are trying to weaken India through various acts of terrorism. "If you allow the Muslim population to reach 40 per cent to 45 per cent, they will take control of India and force all the Hindus to convert to Islam".

NO POWER SUPPLY TOMORROW

MYSURU

The Chamundeshwari Electricity Supply Corporation (CESC) has announced that quarterly maintenance work for the year 2025–26 is scheduled at the 66/11 KV Thayur Power Substation under the Nanjangud Sub Division–2, Tagaduru Section. The work will be carried out on November 21 from 10 AM to 6 PM.

Due to this, there will be disruption in power supply in areas under Thayur, Gejjaganahalli, Vaddarahundi, Eshwaragowdanahalli, Kottarayana Hundi, Beerihundi, Kalkunda, Kamalli villages and other areas under the Gram Panchayat limits. The public is requested to cooperate, the Assistant Executive Engineer (Electrical) of CESC, Nanjangud Sub Division–2, stated in a release.

Hundreds of Cops for 20–30 Protesters! Strange, But True

MYSURU

Mysuru witnessed a curious scene on Wednesday when around 25–30 guest lecturers from government degree colleges prepared to march towards Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's house seeking justice.

Instead of the CM's doors opening for dialogue, they found themselves facing an intimidating wall of khaki. To their utter disbelief, hundreds of police personnel stood ready to thwart their walk, including platoons from the City Armed Reserve, senior officers, and top brass.

The protest was organised by the Government Degree Colleges Guest Lecturers State Coordination Committee, who had called for a peaceful walk from the old Deputy Commissioner's office to the CM's residence. Their demands were straightforward: Regularisation of service, No differentiation between UGC and non-UGC lecturers, Seniority and experience to decide absorption and State government to file an appeal in the Supreme Court to settle existing legal hurdles. What they didn't expect was a mini army waiting for them.

"Is This a War? Or a Walk?" Protesters Ask Police

As the lecturers emerged holding placards and wearing the frustration of years of insecurity, they were stunned to see top city cops already deployed to block their route. The police bluntly told them that a march to the CM's house would not be permitted for "security reasons." Instead, they demanded that the group confine themselves to the old DC office premises and disperse later.

The leaders bristled, accusing City Police Commissioner Seema Latkar, DCP Bindumani, and Deputy Commissioner Lakshmikant Reddy of trampling on democratic rights. They retorted: "The Constitution permits peaceful protest! The CM is elected by us. We have every right to meet him and hold talks."

They also questioned the logic behind the police's "security reasoning" while highlighting the irony: "During elections, the CM and politicians knock on our doors asking for votes. There is no protocol then! Why this drama now?

People's Participation is Crucial While Preparing Plans: D.R. Patil

MYSURU

The government prepares schemes aimed at public development. Therefore, people's participation is extremely important while formulating such schemes, said D.R. Patil, Vice-Chairman of the Karnataka Decentralised Planning and Development Committee.

Speaking on Wednesday after conducting a meeting of Mysuru Division–level officials at the Zilla Panchayat auditorium. Development becomes much easier if officials work strictly in accordance with the law, he said the demands of the people are many. It is often difficult to frame schemes after gathering information directly from the public. So, guidelines are provided on what subjects should be prioritised while preparing plans and who should be given priority during scheme implementation.

Stating that public participation enables the government to undertake people-centric works, Patil said meetings are being held with this objective. Preparations must be made to submit the detailed district plan to the Hon'ble Chief Minister before the budget.

At the village level, public involvement can be witnessed during gram sabhas. However, such participation is lacking in urban areas. Therefore, he instructed the heads of urban local bodies to select two representatives for every 100 voters by December 6 and form Neighbourhood Groups. Subsequently, ward sabhas should be formed to prepare urban development plans.

He said plans should be formulated at the taluk level based on opinions collected from gram sabhas and ward sabhas, and later consolidated at the district level before submitting the final report. If district planning committees function effectively, many public grievances can be resolved in the coming days.

Regional Commissioner Nitesh Patil said that training has already been provided to prepare progressive development plans for the district. In a few districts, the planning process at the taluk and district levels is still pending, and officials have been instructed to complete it at the earliest.

Provide information on stray dogs

MYSURU

The Health Department of the Mysuru City Corporation has issued a notice stating that heads of all private and government educational institutions, private and government hospitals, sports complexes, bus stands, and railway stations located within the limits of the urban local body must act as per the directions issued by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Suo Moto Writ Petition No. 5/2025.

Accordingly, if any stray dogs are found residing within their campus, they must immediately verify the same, count the number of stray dogs, and report it to the Chief Officer/ Commissioner. Institutions must take measures to prevent stray dog nuisance within their premises and control their presence. They must also cooperate with the urban local body in relocating stray dogs and appoint a responsible employee from their institution as a Nodal Officer to monitor and restrict the entry of stray dogs into the premises.

As per the directions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court, if stray dogs are allowed to re-enter and reside again within the institution limits, the cost of relocating them will be recovered from the concerned institution. Failure to comply with these orders will result in legal action as per the court's directions, the Health Officials of the Mysuru City Corporation have stated in the release.

Krishnappa, a retired lift operator at Vidhana Soudha, passed away suddenly. He had faithfully served for over 32 years, helping transport the Chief Minister, dignitaries, and staff across the state secretariat. Having retired in July, Krishnappa had returned to submit his pension papers but tragically suffered a severe heart attack overnight. Colleagues said he did not wake up in the morning. Known for his friendly nature, he was also familiar with media personnel covering events at Vidhana Soudha. His sudden demise has left coworkers and friends mourning the loss of a dedicated and warm-hearted colleague.

Institute shares support for farmers through webcast

Bengaluru

ICAR–NBAIR in Bengaluru organised a live webcast of the 'Pradhan Mantri Kisan Samman Nidhi (PM-KISAN)' programme for farmers at its Yelahanka campus. The event helped many small and marginal farmers understand the benefits of the scheme. Dr. K. Sudhakar, Member of Parliament from Chikkaballapura, attended as the chief guest, while former Kolar MP Shri S. Muniswamy was present as the guest of honour. The programme began with Dr. T. Venkatesan explaining the institute's work and how its activities support farmers in the region. In his speech, Dr. Sudhakar said the PM-KISAN scheme has been very helpful to farmers since its launch in 2019. He noted that almost ₹3,91,000 crore has already been sent directly to nearly nine crore farmers across the country. Under the 21st instalment alone, he said that ₹18,000 crore will reach farmers' bank accounts. He praised ICAR–NBAIR for promoting natural farming and simple eco-friendly methods to help farmers grow safe food, fodder, and fibre.

CM, HM must bring law and order in state or resign: BJP

'Repeated warnings were given whenever cases of violence against women, rape, and murder occurred, yet the govt failed to act effectively'

BENGALURU

Member of the Legislative Council (MLC) Keshav Prasad has strongly criticised the state government for what he described as a serious breakdown in law and order.

Addressing the media at the state BJP state here on Wednesday, he said the Chief Minister and Home Minister must immediately take firm steps to control the situation, or resign from their posts. He said that repeated warnings were given whenever cases of violence against women, rape, and murder occurred, yet the government failed to act effectively.

Keshav Prasad said the government's statements lacked seriousness and that words must be followed by action. He pointed out that no officer was punished in the case where prisoners in jail received royal treatment. Instead, only a meeting was held. He also accused the government of weakening police morale during the recent stampede case. He said the government itself was responsible for the present situation and announced that he would launch a strong protest. He further shared figures showing a sharp rise in crime.

Retired IPS officer Bhaskar Rao, who also addressed the media, said crimes against women have risen since the present government took office. He mentioned the incident in Udupi where a camera was secretly placed in a women's toilet and ignored. He also noted that groups clashed openly in front of the Vidhana Soudha, showing a complete collapse of law and order.

He added that an Israeli woman was raped in broad daylight in Hampi, and crimes against migrant workers were going unnoticed. Robberies and extortion, he said, were also rising. He criticised the government for not filling 25,000 vacant posts in the police department and said corruption in recruitment had lowered police morale. He also pointed out that the Mahila Suraksha App was not functioning properly.

MLA Somashekhar hails Indira's inspiring legacy

KENGERI

MLA ST Somashekhar praised former Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, calling her one of India's strongest and most capable leaders. He was speaking at the 108th birth anniversary celebration of Indira Gandhi, held near the Indira Canteen in Kengeri by local Congress workers.

During the ceremony, he laid wreaths at her portrait and helped distribute sarees and blankets to more than 500 poor residents and civic workers, saying her work still guides the nation.

Somashekhar said the contribution of the Nehru family to India's progress is remarkable. He noted that Indira Gandhi played a major role in removing poverty, strengthening the economy, and improving India's global standing. Along with leading the country, she maintained strong international relations and always placed national development at the center of her decisions. He added that she devoted herself fully to the Congress organization and worked tirelessly to improve the lives of ordinary citizens.

He highlighted the famous 20-point programme introduced by Indira Gandhi, which focused on poverty eradication and welfare. Even today, he said, people in many villages remember how these programmes brought hope and support. Her honest service, disciplined leadership, and deep commitment to the nation continue to inspire today's youth and Congress workers.

Local leaders and party members also attended the event. Among them were former Zilla Panchayat member Shivamadaya, Kengeri Block Congress President Mylasandra Nagaraj, Block General Secretary Santosh B.V., and Ward Presidents T. Prabhakar, Arun Kumar, Amrit Gowda, K.R. Murthy, Y. Krishna, Purushottam, and K.C. Sathish. Several women leaders including Parvati, Kantha, Padma Harish, Geetha, Radha, and Vidya were also present, showing strong support for the event and its message.

BNCC chief lauds workers for effective waste segregation

BENGALURU

The Bengaluru North City Corporation (BNCC) carried out a field inspection at the Mallasandra Mustering Point, where Commissioner Pommala Sunil Kumar reviewed the ongoing cleanliness work and spoke about the importance of improving waste management practices.

During the visit, he appreciated the efforts made by staff in segregating waste properly.

He also pointed out that there is still room for improvement and instructed officials to make the necessary changes. He stressed that the mustering centre should always remain clean, organised, and ready for daily operations without delay.

The Commissioner later examined the progress of several Engineering Department projects, including the pipeline drainage work taking place in the area. He advised officials to install footpath slabs quickly so that the public, especially pedestrians, can move safely and without inconvenience. Keeping the walkways clear and functional, he said, is essential for the safety of local residents.

Joint Commissioner Smt. Pallavi, Solid Waste Management Assistant General Manager Shri Lohith, and other officials accompanied the Commissioner during this inspection. Their presence ensured that all departments involved understood the instructions clearly and could take prompt action.

A Rabies Awareness Program was also held at the Krishi Mela on the GKVK campus. The event was organised in partnership with Team CARE and Mission Rabies. More than 5,000 people attended, including members of the Traffic Department, Home Guards, Police Department, and students from New Horizon College and REVA University.

The sessions explained how to identify rabies, the common symptoms seen in infected animals, and the safety steps citizens should follow. It also aimed to help the public stay informed, act responsibly, and reduce risks through timely awareness.

BNCC phone-in prog tomorrow to hear grievances

Bengaluru North City Corporation (BNCC) has started a helpful way for citizens to share their worries directly with the Commissioner. To make sure people's problems are heard quickly, Commissioner Shri Pommala Sunil Kumar holds a special "Phone-In Programme" every Friday. This simple effort aims to bring officials closer to the public and solve local problems without delay. The next phone-in session will take place on Friday (November 21) from 7:00 am to 9 am. During these two hours, the Commissioner will personally answer calls from citizens, listen to their concerns, and guide officials to take fast action. This direct contact is meant to make problem-solving quicker and more transparent. Citizens can report many types of issues during the call. All complaints received during the programme will be entered into the Sahaaya 2.0 Portal. Residents can reach the Commissioner through 9480685705 or Landline: 080-22975936 / 080-23636671.

AAP unveils new committee ahead of B'luru municipal polls

BENGALURU

The Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) has announced a new Greater Bengaluru Area (GBA) Election Committee as part of its preparations for the upcoming municipal elections.

The announcement was made at a press conference led by State President Dr. Mukhyamantri Chandru. He said Bengaluru has suffered for five years without elected ward representatives because major political parties did not conduct municipal polls. According to him, the city's basic services have weakened during this long delay, and corruption in civic works has caused both financial loss and daily trouble for residents.

He said Bengaluru, once known around the world as the Silicon City, is now being called the "Garbage City" due to poor planning and misuse of public funds. He added that though media reports highlight new civic scams every day, no serious action has been taken to fix the situation. He urged citizens to demand responsible leadership in the next election.

National Joint Secretary Prithvi Reddy explained that AAP wants to rebuild the city with a clear vision based on honesty and accountability. He said Bengaluru must regain the dignity imagined by Kempegowda. The party promises world-class schools, good healthcare, and strong civic facilities for all if given a chance to serve. Working president Sitaram Gundappa said AAP already has active teams across many wards.

'Indira Kit' under PMGKY by next Jan: Muniyappa

NEW DELHI

Minister of Food, Civil Supplies and Consumer Affairs KH Muniyappa on Wednesday said a new ration kit in the name of 'Indira Gandhi' will be introduced under the Pradhan Mantri Garib Kalyan Yojana (PMGKY) under the name 'Indira Kit'.

Addressing th media, he said the kit will contain pulses, oil, salt and sugar. It will directly go to the family and these ingrediants are protein-rich, which is useful for the growth of children as well as others.

Muniyappa said the tender process and quality check are underway to implement this scheme by January or February next.

He expressed concern over the non-availability of maize for the Public Distribution System (PDS). "We are not getting enough maize and are trying to procure it," he said. Citing the example of people consuming more maize than rice in North Karnataka, he said a comprehensive plan is needed for production and storage.

Highlighting the issue of maize prices, especially 'Maldandi', the minister said, "The price of this maize is Rs 1,000 to 1,500 per quintal below the minimum support price (MSP). If its price is increased, farmers will be encouraged to supply to the government."

Saying he has appealed to the Chief Minister and the ministers of North Karnataka in this regard, Muniyappa said the state price fixing committee should consider the actual situation and take action.

CHRIST national conclave highlights social impact goals

BENGALURU

CHRIST (Deemed to be University) has launched the National Social Conclave 2025, a three-day forum focused on how social sciences can build a stronger and more inclusive nation.

The event, organised by the Centre for East Asian Studies and the School of Social Sciences, gathered policymakers, academics, industry experts, and students for meaningful discussions on social development.

The inaugural session was attended by former Karnataka Chief Secretary Dr. A. Ravindra, Bengaluru City Police Commissioner Seemant Kumar Singh, and CHRIST University Vice Chancellor Dr. Fr. Jose CC. Opening the event, Dr. N. Manoharan, Director of the Centre for East Asian Studies, said NSC '25 is the first conclave designed to create knowledge that brings hope, builds skills, and encourages purposeful action.

In his address, Commissioner Seemant Kumar Singh spoke about modern policing methods, especially how technology is helping the police handle rising cybercrime. He explained how issues such as traffic, environment, and public safety are closely linked, urging students to study these challenges and offer practical solutions. He added that knowledge, ethics, and empathy must guide the progress of future leaders.

Keynote speaker Dr. A. Ravindra highlighted challenges in healthcare, jobs, and poverty.

He called for social science education that focuses on equality and justice, along with stronger skills to help create a welfare-focused society.

Sanity restored: Missing youth safely found

BENGALURU

Sanjaynagar Police successfully traced and reunited a missing youth with his family. The complainant had reported on August 25 that his son, Manjunathan M, had left home and not returned. During the investigation, police discovered that he had purchased a new mobile SIM card in Hassan district using his Aadhaar card in November 2025. Acting on this lead, ASI P. Siddalingaswamy and PC Pinto M. Bhajantri traveled to Hassan, located Manjunathan, and safely brought him back to Sanjaynagar Police Station. He was then handed over to his grateful family, highlighting the police's prompt and effective response.

Outlet near Cubbon metro station opposed

BENGALURU

The Cubbon Park Walkers Association (CPWA) has strongly opposed the construction of a new retail outlet near the Cubbon Park Metro Station.

Members of the group said they will hold a major protest and also take all legal steps against the Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL). They believe this commercial outlet goes against the peaceful nature of Cubbon Park and breaks the trust built through recent promises made by the government.

The Association said the new construction is a serious threat because it may open the door for many more commercial buildings inside or around the park. For years, the CPWA has been fighting against the growing concrete structures that they say are slowly changing the character of the city's important green space. They have already filed a Public Interest Litigation demanding the removal of earlier commercial structures. CPWA President S. Umesh said the actions of BMRCL completely ignore the concerns of citizens. He added that this step places business interests above the need to protect nature and the health of thousands of people who use the park daily.

The walkers also pointed out that Deputy Chief Minister D. K. Shivakumar had clearly promised during a recent visit that no new concrete buildings would be allowed inside Cubbon Park.

PILGRIMAGE ALERT

Brain fever: K'taka issues advisory to Sabarimala pilgrims

BENGALURU

The Karnataka Health Ministry has issued an important safety advisory for pilgrims heading to Sabarimala, following reports of a rare brain infection in Kerala. The disease is caused by a deadly amoeba called Naegleria fowleri, which can trigger amoebic meningoencephalitis, a serious and often fatal condition.

The Commissionerate of Health and Family Welfare Services has urged devotees to be careful and take necessary precautions during the pilgrimage. Naegleria fowleri lives mainly in warm freshwater and soil, including ponds, lakes, standing water, and swimming pools. The infection does not spread from person to person or through drinking contaminated water.

The amoeba enters the body through the nose during contact with water, then travels to the brain, causing severe symptoms. Pilgrims are advised to use nose clips or tightly close their noses while bathing in stagnant water.

Signs of infection can appear within seven days and include fever, intense headache, nausea, vomiting, neck stiffness, confusion, mental changes, and behavioral disorders. Anyone experiencing these symptoms should immediately contact the nearest government hospital or doctor for urgent care.

Authorities stressed that vigilance and simple preventive measures can significantly reduce the risk of infection. Pilgrims and their families are encouraged to follow these safety tips carefully to ensure a safe pilgrimage.

STATE TO MARK 50 YEARS OF ANGANWADI SERVICES

Karnataka celebrates 50 years of Anganwadi services with Hebbalkar launching ICDS Golden Jubilee, Akka Pade, Gruhalakshmi Bank

RAMANAGARA

In celebration of 50 years of Anganwadi services in Karnataka, the Women and Child Development Minister, Lakshmi Hebbalkar, announced that a landmark event will be held on November 28 at Bangalore Palace Grounds. During the program, three major initiatives will be launched, making it a historic occasion.

Speaking at a preparatory meeting for the South Bangalore district, Hebbalkar highlighted the significance of the ICDS Golden Jubilee, the launch of the Akka Pade scheme, and the inauguration of the Gruhalakshmi Bank. She called on Anganwadi workers and assistants to participate actively to ensure the event's success.

Hebbalkar emphasized that Congress, the party that led India to independence, has consistently implemented women-centric programs, describing it as a "guarantee government." She recalled that Indira Gandhi initiated Anganwadis in 1975 in Mysore district to provide nutritional food and education to children living in poverty. Now, after 50 years, the program continues with expanded initiatives, including early education from LKG to UKG and the formation of Gruhalakshmi Multi-Purpose Cooperative Societies under the Gruhalakshmi scheme.

The minister expressed confidence that the Congress government, under Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy CM D.K. Shivakumar, would continue its five-guarantee programs and remain in power through 2028. She criticized BJP for copying the Gruhalakshmi model in Maharashtra but diluting benefits post-election.

Hebbalkar also highlighted the recent increase in honorarium for Anganwadi workers and assistants and promised further increments. She urged that at least 2.5 lakh beneficiaries in South Bangalore be enrolled as shareholders of the Gruhalakshmi cooperative, ensuring the success of the Gruhalakshmi Bank, which aims to reach households directly.

The preparatory meeting was attended by Ramanagara MLA Iqbal Hussain, MLC S. Ravi, officials of various district and state development authorities, and senior officers from the Women and Child Development Department.

Free skill training for Yuvanidhi beneficiaries

CHITRADURGA

The District Commissioner, T. Venkatesh, has urged all Yuvanidhi beneficiaries in the district to avail themselves of free skill training under the Yuvanidhi Plus program. Unemployed youth receiving Yuvanidhi allowance can directly contact nearby government training institutes, including ITI, GTTC, and CIDAC centers, to enroll for various skill development courses.

Beneficiaries are advised to register at their respective taluk-based training centers with their personal details by November 24 to participate in the free programs. The initiative aims to empower unemployed youth with practical skills, enhancing their employability and supporting their professional growth.

Pulse Polio vaccination drive in dist on Dec 21: DC

CHIKKABALLAPURA

District Commissioner P.N. Ravindra announced that a Pulse Polio vaccination drive will be held on December 21 for all children aged 0–5 years across the district, regardless of previous vaccination status.

Speaking after chairing the District Task Force meeting on MR Elimination, Routine Immunization, and Pulse Polio programme at the DC's conference hall on Wednesday, he said the target is to administer polio drops to approximately 1.22 lakh children below five years.

With the cooperation of Health, Women & Child Development, and other departments, every child in this age group will be covered. Special teams will visit booths on Dec 21, and on Dec 22–23, vaccination teams will go door-to-door, visit bus stands, crowded markets, and transit points to ensure no child is missed.

Measles-Rubella (MR) Vaccination

The second dose of MR vaccine (given between 16–24 months) provides 95% lifelong protection against measles and rubella. Parents must ensure children receive both doses on schedule and cooperate with health workers.

Dengue Awareness

Stagnant water around homes is the main reason dengue spreads. The disease is caused by the dengue virus transmitted through infected Aedes aegypti mosquitoes that breed in clean stagnant water in drums, barrels, cement tanks, pots, coconut shells, discarded bottles, and tyres. These mosquitoes bite during the daytime.

Symptoms include sudden high fever, severe headache, pain behind the eyes, severe joint and muscle pain, nausea, rashes, and bleeding from nose/gums or under the skin. There is no specific medicine or vaccine for dengue. Immediate medical attention from experts and treatment at the nearest government hospital is essential if symptoms appear.

District Health & Family Welfare Officer Dr. Mahesh Kumar, Deputy Director of Women & Child Development Department Venkatesh D., District AYUSH Officer Tabu Bhanu, taluk health officers, and other officials were present.

PM Shri Jawahar Navodaya Vidyalaya authorities informed in a press release that admit cards must be downloaded and carried to the examination centre.

Training essential to improve children's learning quality: BEO

CHITRADURGA

To bring qualitative improvement in children's learning, teacher training is essential, said Block Education Officer H. Girija. She was speaking at the two-day in-service training programme organised for teachers of Classes 3 to 5 at the DIET Field Resource Centre in the city. The training focused on Odu Karnataka, Mathematics–Ganak, and value education. Girija said the Department of Education has been implementing several initiatives to strengthen both curricular and co-curricular learning. Training helps teachers adopt effective strategies during classroom teaching and enhances children's learning outcomes. She emphasised that innovative teaching activities must be introduced to make learning more engaging, and teachers should implement the training inputs at the school level. This academic year, she urged teachers to ensure 100% progress under the Odu Karnataka programme. BRC Sampath Kumar, delivering the introductory address, said teachers must first develop strong values within themselves and then inculcate these values in students through value education, helping them become responsible citizens. The Odu Karnataka programme covers 60 teaching days, aiming to strengthen early language skills. The Mathematics–Ganak programme runs in two phases over six weeks, while value education must be integrated at all stages to nurture good behaviour and ethics among children. He added that punctuality, professionalism, and coordination among teachers can greatly improve performance at all levels. Proper planning and activity-based learning at the school level can significantly strengthen children's learning.

CRP Mallika offered the prayer. Timmaraju welcomed the gathering. Varalakshmi delivered the vote of thanks, and BRP Vidya conducted the programme. A total of 204 teachers from various government schools across Chitradurga taluk participated in the workshop.

Telangana CM launches Indiramma Saree Scheme

Hyderabad

Telangana Chief Minister A. Revanth Reddy on Wednesday launched the Indiramma saree distribution scheme, giving one crore sarees to eligible women. The distribution will happen in two phases: village women by December 9, and 65 lakh urban women from March 1–8, aligning with International Women's Day. Reddy urged female ministers and MLAs to wear the sarees as symbols of women's pride. He said the initiative honors Indira Gandhi and supports women's empowerment through business and self-respect programs.

Khan Market becomes 24th costliest street

New Delhi

Delhi's Khan Market slipped one spot to become the 24th most expensive global high-street, with annual rent of USD 223 per sq ft, according to Cushman & Wakefield. It remains India's priciest retail location. London's New Bond Street tops the global list at USD 2,231 per sq ft. Rising demand and limited mall supply are driving India's premium high streets, including Connaught Place and Galleria Market. Gurugram, Mumbai, and New Delhi saw strong rent growth, highlighting India's expanding role in global retail.

PM Modi releases 21st PM-KISAN instalment

'With this instalment, a total of 11 crore farming families have received funds, exceeding ₹ 3.70 lakh crore to date'

COIMBATORE

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday released the 21st instalment of the PM-KISAN scheme worth Rs 18,000 crore from Coimbatore, Tamil Nadu, supporting nine crore farmers across India.

With this instalment, a total of 11 crore farming families have received funds, exceeding Rs 3.70 lakh crore to date.

The Rs 2,000 assistance credited to beneficiaries' accounts brought smiles to farmers, who thanked the Prime Minister for this farmer-focused welfare scheme. In Sahibganj, Jharkhand, farmers expressed relief, saying the money helps buy seeds and fertilisers on time. In Ghazipur, Uttar Pradesh, the BJP district president highlighted that the scheme boosts local markets as farmers spend on essentials.

In Bihar's Koderma, farmers shared that they no longer need loans for farming. Women farmers also expressed gratitude for the financial aid. In Rajasthan's Kotputli-Behror, beneficiaries thanked the Prime Minister for easing financial distress. Union Minister Bhagirath Choudhary noted that the PM-KISAN scheme has become crucial for empowering small and marginal farmers.

Farmers in Madhya Pradesh's Neemuch said the funds help buy seeds, fertilisers, and equipment. Some also receive additional support from the state government, further aiding their agricultural needs. Beneficiaries across districts emphasised how the PM-KISAN scheme enables timely purchases and strengthens farming livelihoods.

Notably, the PM-KISAN programme is among the world's largest Direct Benefit Transfer initiatives, receiving global recognition for its role in providing timely financial support and improving the economic conditions of millions of farming families.

India hosts BIMSTEC Young Diplomats Programme

NEW DELHI

It aims at promoting regional cooperation and training diplomats from Bangladesh, Bhutan, Myanmar, Nepal, and Sri Lanka

India hosted the annual BIMSTEC Young Diplomats Interaction Programme at the Sushma Swaraj Institute of Foreign Service (SSIFS) in Delhi on Wednesday.

The week-long programme brought together 14 young diplomats from Bangladesh, Bhutan, Myanmar, Nepal, and Sri Lanka to engage in discussions and training sessions on regional cooperation and diplomacy.

The Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) said the initiative aims to expose young diplomats to new approaches in understanding geopolitical and geoeconomic developments, as well as priority areas for cooperation in the Bay of Bengal region. It is part of India's efforts to build stronger ties among future diplomats from BIMSTEC member countries.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi had first announced the programme at the 6th BIMSTEC Summit in Bangkok, highlighting its role in strengthening institutional and capacity-building efforts in the region. The programme aligns with India's 'Neighborhood First' and 'Act East' policies.

SSIFS Dean, Ambassador Raj Kumar Srivastava, inaugurated the second Special Course for Diplomats from BIMSTEC countries. In his inaugural address, he spoke on the concept of diplomacy, the Indian philosophy of 'Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam' (the world is one family), and the pillars of Indian foreign policy, including strategic priorities and resilience.

He also discussed the '4Ts' of Diplomacy for Development—trade, technology, tourism, and talent—and highlighted India's initiatives such as the International Solar Alliance (ISA), Coalition for Disaster Resilient Infrastructure (CDRI), IBSA, and Global BIMSTEC Alliance (GBA). The session also covered BIMSTEC's origin, purpose, and objectives.

BIMSTEC, the Bay of Bengal Initiative for Multi-Sectoral Technical and Economic Cooperation, connects South Asia with Southeast Asia. Its seven member states—Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, Nepal, Sri Lanka, Myanmar, and Thailand—represent 1.7 billion people and a combined GDP of USD five trillion, making it a significant regional bloc.

Trinamool MP files FIR against Bengal Guv amid controversy

KOLKATA

The political clash between West Bengal Governor C.V. Ananda Bose and Trinamool Congress MP Kalyan Banerjee escalated on Wednesday as Banerjee lodged an FIR against the Governor at a Kolkata police station. The FIR cites Sections 61, 152, 192, 196, and 353 of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023, covering criminal conspiracy, acts endangering national integrity, provocation of riots, promoting enmity, and public mischief.

The complaint was filed at Hare Street Police station, a day after the Governor's office approached the Calcutta High Court against Banerjee. The suit claims Banerjee's remarks tarnished the dignity of the Governor and could create social unrest.

The controversy began last Saturday when Banerjee alleged that Raj Bhavan was sheltering BJP-linked "criminals" and distributing arms to harm Trinamool Congress workers. He added, "As long as an incompetent Governor like you remains, nothing good will happen in West Bengal."

Governor Bose responded on Sunday, calling Banerjee's statements "inflammatory, explosive, and irresponsible" and warned of strong legal action. He also demanded an unconditional public apology if the allegations were false.

On Monday, a joint search and combing operation was conducted within Raj Bhavan to verify Banerjee's claims. The operation reportedly found no evidence to support the allegations.

Following this, the Governor's office filed a legal suit at the Calcutta High Court on Tuesday, escalating the confrontation further. Banerjee's FIR and the Governor's suit mark a new phase in the ongoing tussle, highlighting growing political tensions in West Bengal between the state's ruling party and the central representative.

ED claims Al Falah chairperson tried fleeing

NEW DELHI

The Enforcement Directorate on Wednesday claimed Al Falah Group chairperson Jawad Ahmed Siddiqui had incentives to flee India, as his family lives in the Gulf. He was arrested in a money laundering case involving Rs 415.10 crore from students through false NAAC and UGC claims. A court sent him to 13-day custody till December 1. The ED said his questioning is needed to trace the full extent of the crime and prevent obstruction, while Siddiqui's lawyer denied the allegations.

Chennithala accuses Vijayan govt of jeopardising Sabarimala pilgrimage

THIRUVANANTHAPURAM

Veteran Congress legislator Ramesh Chennithala on Wednesday accused Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan's government of deliberately jeopardising the Sabarimala pilgrimage. Chennithala claimed that it is becoming clear the state government's policy is to disrupt the annual Mandala season, affecting lakhs of devotees from across India.

"The government should have begun preparations at least six months ago. Instead, officials now blame the recently announced local body election code of conduct. What does an election code, announced just a week ago, have to do with months-long preparations?" asked Chennithala.

He added that even the Kerala High Court has criticised the state's lack of readiness. Reports indicate severe shortages of essential services, including medical aid, sanitation, accommodation, crowd management, and police deployment. Central forces' presence is reportedly inadequate, and coordination between departments is weak.

Pilgrims arriving at Pamba, Nilakkal, and other key transit points faced hardships such as lack of drinking water, toilets, transportation, resting areas, and emergency care. Devotees from Karnataka, Tamil Nadu, and Andhra Pradesh shared distressing experiences, raising concerns about safety and dignity.

Chennithala pointed out that the new Devaswom Board President, who assumed office just three days ago, expressed concern after witnessing the situation. While individual officials may not be at fault, he stressed the government has a constitutional and moral duty to ensure smooth pilgrimage conduct.

Questions have been raised on why Devaswom Minister V.N. Vasavan did not convene preparatory meetings or coordinate departments earlier.

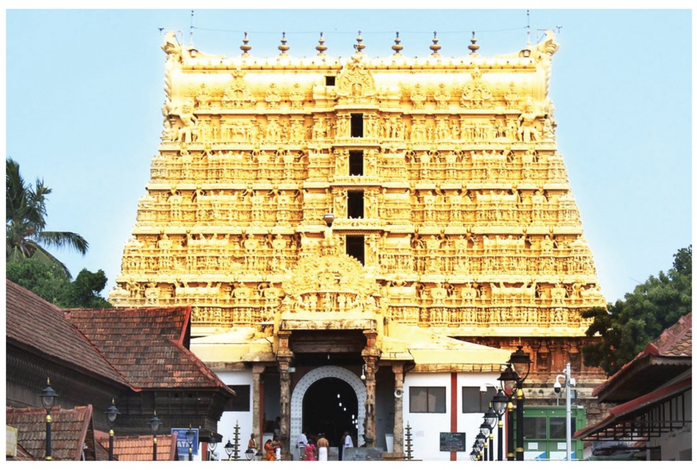
'Chaitanyanand Saraswati in safe, secure custody'

NEW DELHI

The Jail Authorities filed a report before the Patiala House Court, refuting the allegations made by Chaitanyanand Saraswati. It is stated that he is in safe and secure custody.

Earlier, Chaitanyanand had alleged that he had a threat to his life in Tihar Jail. It is stated that Saraswati has not named any person whom he has a threat. Saraswati is in judicial custody in a molestation case. Patiala House Court, on November 14, called for a report from the Superintendent of Jail. Pursuant to the court's order, the jail authorities filed a report with the Judicial Magistrate First Class (JMFC) Animesh Kumar on Tuesday. The report stated that Chaitanyananda Saraswati was called and heard in person regarding his apprehension of a threat inside the Jail.

During the interaction, he did not disclose or name any specific individual from whom he apprehended harm. He is in safe and secure custody, the report said.



Kerala HC seeks update on temple renovation progress

KOCHI

The Kerala High Court on Wednesday asked the Administrative Committee of the Padmanabhaswamy Temple to provide an update on the renovation of the temple's Moolavigraha (principal idol). The Court specifically sought information on the consent of the shilpis (traditional sculptors) and the finalisation of materials required for the restoration.

A Division Bench of Justice Devan Ramachandran and Justice M. B. Snehalatha was hearing a petition alleging defects in the Moolavigraha. Earlier, the Court had directed the Committee to submit a report on repair works. Standing Counsel informed the Bench that renovation cannot start without approval from the five identified shilpis, and the Committee is awaiting their consent.

The Court emphasised that the renovation must be carried out "with the sanctity that holds the cosmic power of the temple" and said shilpis' consent is essential. The expert panel also confirmed that the list of materials will be finalised within two weeks, keeping the timeline unchanged.

The petitioner's counsel raised concerns about potential delays without judicial oversight, but the Court clarified its current role is to ensure work is completed on schedule under the guidance of the Chief Thanthri.

Renovation can begin after the temple's Lakshadeepam festival ends on January 14, 2026. However, the Bench asked for updates on shilpis' consent and material readiness without waiting until then.

The Court also rejected a plea to appoint a former IAS officer as Special Commissioner for the festival, noting the temple is already managed by an Administrative Committee and an Advisory Committee. The Administrative Committee has been directed to submit a report after festival preparations. The matter will be reviewed again on December 10.

Chouhan criticises Cong over electoral failures

DHAMTARI

Union Agriculture Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan on Wednesday sharply criticised Congress, saying the party has become a "burden" and its allies are suffering because of it. He made the remarks while addressing a farmers' convention in Dhamtari, Chhattisgarh, where he also disbursed the 21st instalment under the Pradhan Mantri Kisan Samman Nidhi scheme.

Chouhan said the Centre, under Prime Minister Narendra Modi, will not tolerate Naxalism or terrorism. Referring to recent anti-Maoist operations, he added that the killing of top Naxalite commander Madvi Hidma marked the "last nail in the coffin" of insurgency in the state.

Targeting Congress and its leader Rahul Gandhi, he said, "Wherever Congress goes, the party it joins sinks." He cited Bihar assembly elections, where the Congress-led alliance won only six seats, calling it a "disaster" for the party.

Chouhan accused Congress of allowing infiltrators into India for electoral gains and said both state and central governments will work together to remove them. He added that terrorism and Naxalism will not be tolerated and promised that development and peace will prevail across Chhattisgarh.

Highlighting government initiatives, Chouhan said the Centre and the state under Chief Minister Vishnu Deo Sai are focusing on rural development, agriculture, and infrastructure. He said 80 crore citizens now receive free ration and handed over a letter to build 2,426 km of roads connecting 780 villages at a cost of Rs 2,225 crore.

The Minister reiterated that ensuring food security, fair prices for farmers, and access to nutritious food remain top priorities for the government.

VVPAT not mandatory for local polls: EC

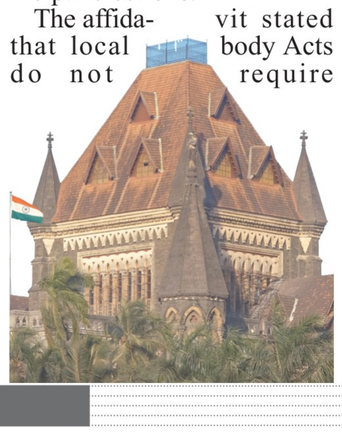
NAGPUR

The Maharashtra State Election Commission (SEC) on Wednesday told the Bombay High Court that Voter Verifiable Paper Audit Trail (VVPAT) machines are not mandatory for local body elections and that their use is technically challenging. The statement came in response to a petition by Congress leader Prafulla Gudadhe, who sought the use of VVPAT for upcoming municipal polls in Maharashtra.

Gudadhe's petition argued that VVPAT is essential for a transparent election process and requested that polls either use VVPAT or revert to ballot papers. He also sought to restrain the SEC from conducting elections with Electronic Voting Machines (EVMs) without VVPAT.

During the hearing before a bench led by Justice Anil Kilor, the SEC explained that the Supreme Court ruling mandating VVPAT applies only to general elections, not local body polls. The commission added that VVPAT was not used in the 2017 municipal elections.

The affidavit stated that local body Acts do not require VVPAT, and designing machines for multi-member, multi-post constituencies, like village panchayats and municipal councils, is technically difficult. In contrast, parliamentary and assembly elections are single-member, single-post contests, where EVMs are designed for use with VVPAT.



The High Court has posted the matter for further hearing on Thursday. The first phase of Maharashtra's local body elections is scheduled for December 2.

The petition emphasized that the right to vote is fundamental and every citizen should be able to verify that their vote is cast correctly, highlighting the importance of VVPAT in ensuring voter confidence.

INDIRA TRIBUTE

Priyanka highlights Grandma's role in making India a nuclear power

NEW DELHI

Senior Congress leaders paid emotional tributes to former Prime Minister Indira Gandhi on her birth anniversary, remembering her as a symbol of courage, patriotism, and dedication to India's progress.

Priyanka Gandhi Vadra described her grandmother as her "ideal," praising her strength, compassion, and determination. She highlighted Indira Gandhi's role in making India a nuclear power and strengthening the nation's infrastructure. "Grandma, through the values you instilled in me, you are always with me," Priyanka wrote on X.

Leader of Opposition Rahul Gandhi also remembered his grandmother, saying her courage and principles guide him in making bold decisions for the nation. He added that her patriotism and ethics inspire him to stand against injustice.

Rahul Gandhi, along with Sonia Gandhi, Congress President Mallikarjun Kharge, General Secretary K.C. Venugopal, and other leaders, visited Shakti Sthal to offer floral tributes. Kharge praised Indira Gandhi's "dynamic leadership" and "immense political courage," noting her dedication to public service and the nation's unity.

Indira Gandhi, often called the "Iron Lady of India," was born on November 19, 1917, in Allahabad (now Prayagraj) to Jawaharlal and Kamala Nehru. Her birth anniversary is observed as National Integration Day, honoring her significant contributions to India's political, social, and economic development.

Through these tributes, Congress leaders emphasized her enduring influence on India's growth and the inspiration she continues to provide to the nation's leaders and citizens alike.

Tiger returns to Gujarat after three decades

Ahmedabad
A tiger has returned to Gujarat more than 30 years after the species went extinct in the state. The big cat has settled in Ratanmahal Wildlife Sanctuary, bringing new hope for reviving the tiger population in a region known mainly for Asiatic lions. State Forest and Environment Minister Arjun Modhwadia said Gujarat can now proudly call itself home to three major big cats — the lion, leopard and tiger. He added that tigers once lived in good numbers but slowly vanished over time.

Art show traces Shipra's five-decade journey

New Delhi
Artist Shipra Bhattacharya's solo show in Delhi offers a rare look at her long artistic journey, highlighting how her work portrays women, their dignity, and their quiet moments of reflection. Returning to the city after ten years, her exhibition "In Bloom" at Bikaner House showcases five decades of figurative art marked by emotional depth and clarity. From lone figures on terraces to pieces reflecting shared trauma, the display shows how her signature style has grown and transformed over time.

Build technology that reduce inequality, improve lives: Prez

'Inventions are meaningful only when they make life better for people'

NEW DELHI

President Droupadi Murmu on Wednesday attended the fifth convocation of the National Institute of Technology (NIT) Delhi, where she encouraged graduating students to focus on building technologies that reduce inequality and bring real change to people's lives.

She said true progress comes not only from new inventions but from how these inventions improve society.

In a message shared on X, the President's office said she advised students to remember that inventions are meaningful only when they make life better for people. She stressed that systems and technologies created by young engineers should aim to close gaps in society and give people new hope.

On Tuesday, President Murmu also presented the sixth National Water Awards and the Jal Sanchay–Jan Bhagidari Awards at a function in New Delhi. Speaking at the event, she said that human civilisation has always grown around rivers, lakes and other water sources. She added that India's traditions give great importance to water, recalling that even the national song begins with the word "Sujalam," meaning a land blessed with abundant water.

The President said efficient water use is a global necessity, especially for India, where water resources are limited compared to the population. She noted that low per capita availability and climate change are worsening the strain on the water cycle, making joint efforts by the government and public essential. She welcomed the creation of over 35 lakh groundwater recharge structures under the Jal Sanchay–Jan Bhagidari initiative and highlighted industries adopting circular water systems and zero liquid discharge, helping strengthen long-term water conservation.

Doval hosts Colombo Conclave security chiefs

NEW DELHI

The meeting seeks to enhance collaboration among participating nations and bolster joint initiatives to improve regional and stability throughout the Indian Ocean area, fostering stronger collective commitment.

National Security Advisor Ajit Doval will host top security officials from Colombo Security Conclave (CSC) member countries in New Delhi on Thursday, the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) announced in an official statement.

The meeting aims to deepen cooperation among participating nations and strengthen collective efforts on regional security in the Indian Ocean region.

According to the MEA, representatives from the Maldives, Mauritius, Sri Lanka and Bangladesh will take part in the discussions as full Member States. Seychelles will join the meeting as an Observer State, while Malaysia has been invited as a Guest country for this round of talks. The gathering will bring together senior officials responsible for shaping security strategies in their respective nations.

The previous, sixth meeting of CSC National Security Advisors was held in Mauritius in December 2023. Member States again met in August 2024 in Sri Lanka during the signing ceremony for the Founding Documents of the Conclave. Deputy National Security Advisers have also held regular interactions, with their latest virtual meeting taking place in July 2024.

The CSC was formed to boost security cooperation among regional countries and tackle shared challenges affecting Indian Ocean stability. The seventh NSA meeting will review progress in areas such as maritime safety, counterterrorism, transnational crime, cyber security, and disaster relief, while also discussing the 2026 Roadmap and Action Plan. The MEA says the CSC's main aim is to address cross-border threats through these five cooperation pillars. The New Delhi meeting will help set common priorities for the coming years.

BLO dies after call; family cites work pressure

JAIPUR

A Booth Level Officer (BLO) on Special Intensive Revision duty died of a heart attack in Sawai Madhopur on Wednesday, moments after receiving a phone call from the tehsildar, his family alleged. The victim, Hariram alias Hariom Bairwa, a 34-year-old Grade-III teacher posted at Sevti Khurd Government School, collapsed suddenly and was taken to a hospital, where he was declared dead. This is the fourth reported BLO death this month, linked by families to heavy workload and stress.

Afghan min arrives in India to strengthen trade ties

NEW DELHI

Afghanistan's Minister of Industry and Commerce, Alhaj Nooruddin Azizi, arrived in New Delhi on Wednesday for a five-day official visit aimed at strengthening trade and investment relations between India and Afghanistan. The Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) welcomed him warmly and noted that improving economic ties remains the main purpose of his visit. MEA spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal posted that India looks forward to advancing trade and investment partnerships with Afghanistan during the minister's stay.

Azizi is expected to visit the India International Trade Fair (IITF) 2025 and hold talks with senior Indian officials dealing with trade and commerce. His visit is significant as it marks one of the highest-level engagements between India and the Taliban administration since the group took control of Kabul in August 2021.

This trip follows the earlier visit of Mawlawi Amir Khan Muttaqi, Afghanistan's Foreign Minister, who spent six days in India in October 2025. During that visit, India and Afghanistan agreed to set up a joint trade committee to improve economic cooperation. Muttaqi said both countries discussed new opportunities in Afghanistan's minerals and energy sectors and invited Indian companies to explore investment possibilities.

Muttaqi's visit also led to an important diplomatic step. India restored its Technical Mission in Kabul to the status of a full Embassy, reflecting New Delhi's intention to deepen engagement with Afghanistan. External Affairs Minister S. Jaishankar made the announcement during his meeting with Muttaqi.

According to the MEA, upgrading the mission shows India's commitment to supporting Afghanistan's development efforts. The Embassy in Kabul will now play a stronger role in humanitarian assistance, capacity-building programmes, and broader development initiatives that match the needs and goals of the Afghan people.

Delhi cops bust major drug syndicate, seize mobile lab

NEW DELHI

The Delhi Police Special Cell has broken a major inter-state drug syndicate operating across Delhi-NCR, Mumbai and Bengaluru. Officials said four people of African origin were arrested, and a mobile drug-making lab was seized during the crackdown. Police recovered 20.146 kg of methamphetamine and 700 drug tablets, worth over Rs 100 crore in the international market.

The operation was carried out by Inspectors Ranjeet Singh and Sanjeev Kumar under the guidance of ACP Neeraj Kumar. Acting on a tip-off received on November 1, police set a trap near Dhaula Kuan around midnight. They caught the first accused, Ezebuenyi Esther Osita, with a red trolley bag carrying 17.146 kg of methamphetamine and drug tablets. She later revealed details about a wider network sending drugs to Bengaluru and Mumbai. Based on her information, police arrested Charles Chimuanya Ebereonwu from Chander Vihar on November 5. He was found with another 3 kg of methamphetamine. During raids, police also discovered a mobile drug factory running from a rented house in Nilothi Extension. The lab had chemicals, solvents and various equipment used to produce methamphetamine.

Khurshid seeks PM's response in Parliament on blast lapse

NEW DELHI

Senior Congress leader Salman Khurshid on Wednesday questioned the government's security policy after the recent blast near Delhi's Red Fort, saying the incident raises a "serious question mark" over intelligence preparedness. He demanded that Prime Minister Narendra Modi give a clear answer in Parliament on what he called a major lapse.

Khurshid, a former External Affairs Minister, said the government's "strategic failures" are now visible and argued that India needs a steady, long-term foreign policy instead of what he described as a "personalised and episodic" approach. He made the remarks while speaking about a new book on foreign policy that he co-edited.

Commenting on the Congress' demand for clarity on the government's "new normal doctrine"—which treated major terror attacks as acts of war—Khurshid said the opposition is not being aggressive but wants accountability. He said the government has not issued a clear statement on how the intelligence failure took place or what its larger implications are.

Khurshid also said the opposition wants an early Parliament discussion on the issue and believes the prime minister should answer directly on the floor of the House. He added that national security challenges must be faced together, not along party lines, and urged the government to trust the opposition.

His remarks come days after Congress demanded an all-party meeting and urged the government to advance the Winter Session of Parliament for a debate. The blast last week killed 13 people and injured several others, just hours after the arrest of eight people linked to a "white-collar terror module."

NGT probes illegal quarry operating near Kharghar hospital

MUMBAI

The National Green Tribunal has flagged an allegedly illegal stone quarry operating behind Tata Cancer Hospital (ACTREC) in Kharghar and set a joint hearing for December 5. RTI replies confirmed no permissions were issued for the quarry, prompting NatConnect Foundation to seek an immediate halt, citing risks to patients, equipment and the hospital structure. The NGT's Western Bench has issued notices to Raigad authorities for detailed reports, as the quarry continues without approvals.

Girl stabbed to death for 'rejecting' proposal, I held

RAMESWARAM

A 21-year-old man was arrested on Wednesday for allegedly stabbing a Class 12 student to death in broad daylight while she was on her way to school. Police said the girl had repeatedly rejected his love proposal, which reportedly led to the attack. The victim lived with her family in Cherankottai near Rameswaram. According to police, the accused, Muniyaraj, from the same locality, had been stalking her for several days and pressuring her to accept his proposal. The girl's father, Mariyappan, a fisherman, had recently confronted him about the harassment and warned him to stop.

Upset over the continued rejection and the warning from her family, the accused allegedly targeted the girl on Wednesday morning. Police said he confronted her on a public road and stabbed her multiple times with a knife. The teenager collapsed on the spot and died before help arrived.

Passersby immediately alerted the police. Officers from the Port Police Station reached the location, recovered the body and sent it to a government hospital for post-mortem examination. A murder case has been registered under relevant sections of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita. Police said the accused fled after the attack but was traced and arrested by a special team. He is now being questioned, and further investigation is underway.

AIADMK general secretary Edappadi K. Palaniswami condemned the incident, saying it exposed growing concerns over women's safety.

Australia showcases expertise to boost India partnership

NEW DELHI

Australia is deepening its education partnership with India by highlighting its strengths in vocational training at DIDAC India 2025.

Austrade Trade and Investment Commissioner Vik Singh said this is the first time the Australian government, along with its state and territory partners, is taking part in the event. A strong team of 24 companies and 35 delegates is representing Australia this year.

Singh said DIDAC India is expected to see nearly 40,000 visitors over five days, giving both countries a major platform to work together. He noted that India aims to become the "skilling capital" of the world, and Australia hopes to support this goal by sharing its training systems, such as the well-known TAFE model, and by building partnerships with Indian institutions and ed-tech companies.

He added that Australia wants to co-create solutions that help India grow a stronger, more skilled workforce. According to him, this collaboration will not only support India's development but also create new opportunities for both countries.

Singh also spoke about how the National Education Policy 2020 has opened new doors for global cooperation. He said the policy has helped international institutions enter India more easily. Australia is now the first country to set up university campuses in India. Deakin University and the University of Wollongong are already operating, and four or five more campuses are expected soon. By next year, nearly 10 Australian campuses may be active in India.

DIDAC India, Asia's largest education technology event, will hold its 15th edition from November 18–20, 2025, at Yashobhoomi in New Delhi. The event brings together global partners and showcases the latest trends in teaching, training, and skill development.

SIR CRISIS

'States lag behind in distribution of election forms'

NEW DELHI

The second phase of the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls is still facing delays, with nearly 61.55 lakh enumeration forms yet to be given to voters across 12 states and union territories.

A total of 50.97 crore forms were planned for distribution, and so far, Booth Level Officers (BLOs) have managed to hand out 50.35 crore forms, reaching about 98.79% completion. Out of these, around 8.14 crore forms have been digitised as of November 19.

Tamil Nadu accounts for the largest share of pending forms, with about 31.05 lakh still to be distributed out of its total 6.41 crore. Kerala follows with a gap of 8.33 lakh out of 2.78 crore voters. Uttar Pradesh has around five lakh voters remaining, and Rajasthan has 4.58 lakh pending, not counting the Anta Assembly constituency, where SIR work was postponed due to the recent by-poll. Anta alone has about 2.28 lakh voters.

Several smaller regions have made better progress. Lakshadweep has completed distribution for all 57,813 voters. In Goa, only 31 voters remain, while 54,467 voters are pending in Puducherry. Other states still finishing the process include Madhya Pradesh with 1.37 lakh pending forms, Gujarat with 2.12 lakh, West Bengal with 2.26 lakh, and Chhattisgarh with 2.76 lakh.

Kerala's Chief Electoral Officer has warned of strict action against anyone blocking BLOs from carrying out their duties. Across all 12 regions, 5.33 lakh BLOs and 10.41 lakh Booth Level Agents have been appointed to complete the massive SIR exercise.

Fraud-Awareness Drive Launched Across Israel

Tel Aviv

The Bank of Israel has started a nationwide campaign to help people understand and avoid financial fraud, as digital scams continue to rise. The effort is led by the Financial Education Forum, which includes major banks and credit card companies. The campaign will appear on TV, radio and online, explaining common online scams and ways to protect personal data. In December, the forum and Israel Police will hold free lectures in Hebrew, Arabic and Russian. The initiative follows years of similar awareness programs.

Lawmakers Protest Steep Airfare Hike From Quetta

Balochistan

Members of the Balochistan Assembly expressed strong concern over what they described as unfair and sudden increases in airfares on flights from Quetta. Both treasury and opposition lawmakers supported a resolution demanding immediate action against PIA and private airlines for sharply raising ticket prices. The resolution, moved by JUI-F member Shahida Rauf, noted that one-way fares to Karachi had reached PKR 43,000–60,000, while flights to Islamabad were now priced above PKR 70,000, causing hardship for travellers.

New Digital Wallet Simplifies TAP Loyalty Payments

Tel Aviv

FinitiOne has introduced what it calls the world's first platform that lets users store and redeem loyalty points directly through a digital wallet and pay instantly with TAP. The system allows organisations and consumer clubs to issue smart prepaid cards connected to Apple Pay and Google Pay. Customers can redeem benefits at any terminal using the Sheba network. The company says the tool could reduce billions in unused loyalty rewards and help small businesses join customer clubs.

Trump, MBS unveil investment and defence partnership deals

Trump and Saudi crown prince announce sweeping agreements reshaping bilateral ties

WASHINGTON

President Donald Trump and Saudi Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman announced a wide set of agreements aimed at deepening strategic ties, boosting American jobs and strengthening regional security. The White House said the deals put American workers, industry and national interests at the centre of the partnership.

A major highlight was Saudi Arabia's plan to invest USD 1 trillion in the United States, sharply higher than the earlier USD 600 billion pledge. Trump also approved a new defence package that includes future deliveries of F-35 fighter jets and the sale of nearly 300 US-made tanks. Officials said the purchases will support American defence jobs while helping Saudi Arabia build its own military strength.

Both sides also signed a Joint Declaration on Civil Nuclear Energy Cooperation. The agreement ensures US firms will be preferred partners for Saudi nuclear projects, with all work following strict non-proliferation rules. The White House said the long-term cooperation would help secure America's leadership in global energy technology.

Another agreement was the Critical Minerals Framework, which aims to secure and diversify supply chains for important minerals. An AI Memorandum of Understanding was also signed, giving Saudi Arabia controlled access to advanced American artificial intelligence systems while blocking foreign misuse.

Trump and the crown prince also approved the US-Saudi Strategic Defence Agreement to strengthen defence cooperation and improve regional deterrence. The White House said the deal supports the "America First" agenda by easing operations for US defence firms in Saudi Arabia and adding burden-sharing funds.

During his visit, the crown prince received a ceremonial welcome at the White House. He also expressed interest in joining the Abraham Accords but said progress toward a two-state solution for Palestinians remained essential.

New Consulates Strengthen Bilateral India-Russia Partnership

MOSCOW

External Affairs Minister S. Jaishankar said on Wednesday that the launch of two new Indian Consulates General in Russia marks a major step in strengthening relations between the two countries. The new offices, opened in Yekaterinburg and Kazan, are expected to support trade, technology links and cultural engagement.

At the inauguration ceremony, Jaishankar said the Indian government had worked steadily for months to make the consulates operational at the earliest possible time. He thanked the Russian government for its full support, especially Deputy Foreign Minister Andrey Rudenko and the regional administrations of Tatarstan and Sverdlovsk Oblast. Indian Ambassador Vinay Kumar and officials from both regions also attended the event.

Jaishankar said Yekaterinburg holds strong industrial value for Russia and is often called the country's third capital. The area is an important centre for heavy engineering, defence production, gem cutting, chemicals, metallurgy and medical equipment. It also hosts the INNOPROM international economic forum, which attracts businesses from many countries. The minister said the new consulate would help Indian and Russian industries work together more easily in areas such as technology, science and manufacturing.

He said Kazan is a major, diverse Russian city linking Asia, known for oil, industry and manufacturing. The new consulate will aid culture, students and tourism. He added that both missions will strengthen services, boost trade and deepen long-term India-Russia cooperation across economic, cultural and academic fields.

EAM S. Jaishankar opened two new Indian Consulates in Russia, saying they will boost trade, technology cooperation, tourism and cultural ties between the two nations

Rights Body Criticises Pakistan Court over Mahrang Bail Denial

QUETTA

Pakistan's Anti-Terrorism Court (ATC) has again denied bail to Baloch Yakjehti Committee (BYC) central organiser Mahrang Baloch and several other leaders, despite what human rights groups say is a lack of solid evidence.

The decision follows months of custody for Mahrang and BYC activists Bibagar Baloch, Sibgatullah Shah Ji, Beebow Baloch, and Gulzadi Baloch, raising concerns over prolonged detention and political suppression.

The court cited FIR 89/25, alleging that the leaders provoked individuals who later broke the Civil Hospital gate and removed corpses. The rights body said there is no credible evidence linking the BYC leadership to the incident, and that several co-accused in the same case have already received bail.

The BYC condemned the ruling, stating that Pakistani law requires consistent treatment when bail is granted to co-accused, a principle it says was ignored. The rights body also criticised the judge's conduct, alleging bias and a violation of established legal standards.

While Mahrang Baloch and Gulzadi Baloch were granted bail in 10 FIRs, they were denied in others. Similarly, Bibagar Baloch, Sibgatullah Shah Ji, and Beebow Baloch received bail in 9 FIRs but were rejected in remaining cases.

The BYC affirmed its determination to challenge the decision in the High Court, calling the ATC ruling "unjust" and emphasising that attempts to silence peaceful political activists will not succeed.

Authorities impose curfew after serious clash in Simara area

Curfew Enforced In Bara after Youth-UML Violent Clash

KATHMANDU

A strict eight-hour curfew has been enforced in the Simara airport area of Nepal's Bara district after a violent clash broke out between Gen-Z protesters and CPN-UML supporters on Wednesday. Officials said the curfew began at mid-day and will stay in place to prevent further unrest. It covers 500 metres on both sides of the Gandak canal–Pathlaiya road and the area around Simara airport. All flights between Kathmandu and Simara have been stopped for safety reasons.

The clash started when Gen-Z youths protested upon hearing that senior UML leaders were arriving at the airport. UML General Secretary Shankar Pokharel and leader Mahesh Basnet were scheduled to fly to Parwanipur for a programme, which triggered the demonstrations.

Tensions have been high since Prime Minister Sushila Karki recommended dissolving the House of Representatives on September 12, following the nationwide Gen-Z movement that turned violent. The protests on September 8 and 9 left at least 78 people dead. The Karki administration has been tasked with holding snap polls on March 5.

The dissolved UML parliamentary party decided on Tuesday that restoring Parliament was essential and moved to file a writ petition in the Supreme Court. Over a dozen similar petitions are already under hearing. The UML, the former House's second-largest party, assigned Mahesh Bartaula and Sunita Baral to represent it. Bartaula argued that appointing ex-chief justice Karki as prime minister violated constitutional rules and called the House dissolution undemocratic. The party seeks Parliament's reinstatement to reverse this "anti-democratic step."

South Korea Urges Improved US Visas For Investing Firms

SEOUL

A senior South Korean diplomat has called for improving US visa processes for Korean companies investing in the United States, saying it is key to maintaining bilateral cooperation.

Jung Ki-hong, Ambassador for Public Diplomacy, made the remarks during a meeting with US Assistant Secretary of State Michael DeSombre in Washington on Tuesday, the South Korean Foreign Ministry said.

The discussions focused on ensuring stable operations for Korean businesses in the US, including follow-up measures after over 300 Korean workers were detained in a Georgia immigration raid in September.

The incident led to the creation of a bilateral visa working group to address entry challenges for Korean firms. Separately, Jung met with US Under Secretary of State Sarah Rogers to discuss strengthening cultural exchanges and public diplomacy projects, both bilaterally and in a trilateral framework with Japan. Last week, officials from both countries celebrated Korean National Day and Armed Forces Day in Washington, highlighting decades of cooperation.

EU Groups Criticise ICT Verdict against Former PM Hasina

DHAKA

Five European rights and advocacy groups have strongly criticised the International Crimes Tribunal's (ICT) verdict against Bangladesh's former Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina. In a joint statement released in London, the groups said the judgement was "politically motivated" and urged global organisations to intervene, local media reported on Wednesday.

The coalition sent letters to several international bodies, including the UN Secretary-General, the UN Human Rights Commissioner, Human Rights Watch, Amnesty International, the European External Action Service and the US State Department. They said the ICT, which was created to examine crimes committed during the 1971 Liberation War, had "moved away from its core principles." They warned that trials held in absentia weaken judicial independence and violate global human rights standards.

The groups also raised concerns about what they described as rushed proceedings, lack of proper legal defence, limited defence witnesses and signs of possible collusion. Their criticism came after the ICT on Monday sentenced Sheikh Hasina to death for "crimes against humanity" related to protests that took place in July last year. The tribunal sentenced former Home Minister Asaduzzaman Khan Kamal to death and gave ex-Police Chief Chowdhury Abdullah Al-Mamun five years after he turned state witness. Sheikh Hasina rejected the charges, calling the verdict from a "rigged tribunal" under interim Chief Advisor Muhammad Yunus politically motivated. She said the aim was to oust her and weaken the Awami League. She also accused the government of failing in law and order, suppressing minorities, curbing women's rights, harassing journalists.

Massive Fire in Oita City Destroys Hundreds Of Buildings

TOKYO

A devastating fire swept through a densely populated area in Oita city overnight, killing one person and damaging over 170 buildings, local authorities said on Wednesday. The blaze erupted in the Saganoseki port district on Tuesday and has been burning for more than 12 hours. Around 180 residents were evacuated as firefighters battled the flames, which spread across roughly 48,900 square meters, including forested areas.

Police confirmed the death of one individual at the scene and are trying to determine whether the body belongs to a missing 76-year-old man.

The Oita Prefectural Government requested assistance from the Self-Defense Forces to support firefighting and relief efforts. Mayor Shinya Adachi said he does not expect further damage, while senior official Shogo Fujikawa noted that smoke levels are decreasing and control measures are underway, though caution is still advised.

A strong wind advisory issued by the Japan Meteorological Agency earlier contributed to the fire's rapid spread. In response, the central government set up a liaison centre at the Prime Minister's Office to monitor the situation.

Japanese Prime Minister Sanae Takaichi expressed gratitude to firefighters, local authorities, and the Self-Defense Forces for their efforts and pledged full government support.

Afghan Minister Visits India to Boost Chabahar Port Usage

KABUL

Afghan Industry and Commerce Minister Alhaj Nooruddin Azizi arrived in New Delhi on Wednesday, beginning an official visit aimed at activating and effectively utilising India-developed Chabahar Port in Iran and attracting more investments. The Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) welcomed the delegation, noting that advancing bilateral trade and investment ties is the key focus of the visit.

During the trip, the Afghan delegation will meet Indian government officials, including ministers of foreign affairs and commerce, as well as traders, investors, and private sector representatives. Discussions will focus on expanding economic cooperation, facilitating trade, creating joint investment opportunities, and strengthening Afghanistan's role in regional transit routes.

DENGUE CRISIS

Punjab Dengue Surge Raises Serious Cover-Up Claims

LAHORE

Punjab is facing a fast-spreading dengue outbreak, with the worst impact reported in the southern districts.

Internal sources in the health system say many dengue deaths are occurring but are not being officially recorded.

Several health workers claim the provincial authorities are downplaying the situation by underreporting cases and hiding the true number of deaths.

Multan and Faisalabad are currently facing the most alarming rise in dengue infections.

This sharp increase clearly contradicts earlier claims by the health department that the situation was "fully under control." Medical teams in South Punjab say dengue-positive cases have increased almost ten times in just a few weeks.

Doctors and public-health specialists allege that several dengue-related deaths took place in major government hospitals in Multan. However, staff responsible for reporting these deaths were reportedly told not to enter them into the dengue dashboard.

Health experts also say district commissioners and district health officials are pressuring field teams to hide both deaths and rising positivity rates.

A recent case involving a young guard, Mohammad Imran, has raised serious concerns.

His crucial NS1 test was sent on the ninth day of fever, even though WHO guidelines say the test's accuracy drops sharply after the seventh day. Later tests confirmed dengue, but Imran died from severe internal bleeding after his platelet count fell dangerously low.

Hospitals in Multan, including Nishtar Hospital, are overcrowded, forcing doctors to shift patients to general wards.

The Dengue Expert Advisory Group has warned the government about major failures in prevention and urged immediate action.

RBI may cut repo rate by 0.25% in December meeting

Morgan Stanley expects the RBI to cut rates in December and adopt a cautious, data-driven stance for future policy moves

MUMBAI

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) is expected to cut the repo rate by 0.25 percentage points to 5.25 per cent at its Monetary Policy Committee meeting in the first week of December, according to a new report by global financial services firm Morgan Stanley. The report says the central bank will likely remain cautious even after this reduction, shifting to a data-based approach for future decisions.

According to the report, the RBI is currently moving through a three-part easing cycle that includes interest rates, liquidity, and regulatory changes. Once the December rate cut is implemented, the central bank is expected to pause and closely study how these policy adjustments affect domestic economic activity and inflation trends.

On fiscal matters, Morgan Stanley believes the government will continue with a measured approach, focusing on gradual consolidation while keeping capital expenditure as a priority. This balanced strategy, the report says, is essential for maintaining steady growth over the medium term.

The report also predicts that India's headline consumer price inflation may rise modestly in 2026–27 after expected lower levels in 2025. However, it should still move towards the RBI's medium-term target of 4 per cent. Both food and core inflation are expected to stabilise between 4 and 4.2 per cent year-on-year, helping keep inflation expectations steady and supporting consumer confidence.

India's current account deficit is expected to stay near 1% of GDP, supported by strong services exports and a solid external balance sheet. The RBI raised FY26 GDP growth to 6.8% but expects early-year slowdown, while lowering its FY26 inflation forecast to 2.6%.

HDK, Odisha CM review Rourkela Steel plant expansion

Union Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy and Odisha CM Mohan Charan Majhi held detailed talks on clearing long-pending issues slowing Rourkela Steel Plant's major expansion plan and other key development projects.

BHUBANESWAR

Union Minister of Heavy Industries and Steel H.D. Kumaraswamy met Odisha Chief Minister Mohan Charan Majhi at Lok Seva Bhawan on Wednesday and held detailed discussions on long-pending issues related to the expansion of the Rourkela Steel Plant in Sundargarh district. The plant, operated by Steel Authority of India Limited (SAIL), is set for a major upgrade under its proposed 9.5 million tonnes per annum (MTPA) expansion plan. Speaking to reporters after the meeting, Kumaraswamy described the discussion as "lengthy and fruitful". He said several issues had remained unresolved for many years, especially those connected to land acquisition. The Chief Minister, he added, assured quick action to clear these hurdles. According to the Union Minister, a committee formed after earlier talks in Delhi has already begun working on settling all outstanding concerns.

Kumaraswamy praised the Chief Minister's proactive approach and said most issues were now moving toward closure. He stressed that Odisha would play a key role in achieving Prime Minister Narendra Modi's target of increasing national steel production. The expansion of the Rourkela Steel Plant, along with rising contributions from private steel makers, would significantly strengthen India's overall steel capacity, he said. The Centre, he added, remained committed to supporting both public and private sector units.

The Chief Minister's Office said discussions focused on smooth land acquisition for the plant's expansion. Majhi called the project vital for growth and jobs.

A committee will address pending issues, while talks also covered land for Rourkela's proposed airport.

KEC shares fall as Power Grid bars firm from new bids

New Delhi

KEC International's shares dropped over 7 per cent on Wednesday after Power Grid Corporation of India barred the company from bidding for new tenders for nine months. Power Grid said the action was linked to alleged violations in an earlier case. KEC clarified that ongoing Power Grid projects will continue and only new bids are restricted. The firm said it is considering legal options and does not expect a major impact due to its strong order book and steady tender pipeline.

Tata AIA launches flexible Maha Raksha term plan

Mumbai

Tata AIA Life Insurance has introduced Maha Raksha Supreme Select, a term insurance plan designed to offer strong protection with greater flexibility. The plan allows policyholders to increase their cover during major life events such as marriage, childbirth, or taking a home loan, ensuring their protection matches growing responsibilities. It also includes an annual top-up option, letting customers raise coverage by 5% to 20% each year to manage inflation and rising financial needs.

Railways to deploy AI-driven logistics platform

Mumbai

ROQIT Greenfield Digital, a unit of Aion-Tech Solutions, has secured a contract from Indian Railways to design and deploy an AI-based logistics platform for light and medium parcel deliveries. The pilot is set to begin with South Central Railway between January and February next year, followed by a nationwide rollout. The company said the platform will create a fully digital small-parcel ecosystem. It added that the project is a major step toward modernising India's logistics network through sustainable technology.

Investor jitters grew after the Supreme Court's sharp criticism of investigative agencies led to a steep drop in Sammaan Capital's stock

Sammaan Capital shares fall 13% after SC criticism of CBI

MUMBAI

Sammaan Capital's shares saw a sharp fall on Wednesday after the Supreme Court strongly criticised the slow and inconsistent approach of several investigative agencies examining allegations against the company. The stock dropped 13.33 per cent to close at Rs 158.40, reflecting investor concern after the court's pointed remarks.

The Supreme Court questioned the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI), the Ministry of Corporate Affairs (MCA) and the Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) for what it called a "friendly" and casual approach in the ongoing probe.

The bench noted that despite the seriousness of the charges, the agencies appeared unwilling to move ahead with the required urgency.

The court expressed worry over SEBI's handling of the matter, accusing the market regulator of showing "double standards".

It said SEBI must not delay action in a case that may involve major financial irregularities and could potentially harm investors. The court also made it clear that SEBI has full authority to conduct a detailed investigation and should exercise that authority without hesitation.

The Supreme Court urged the CBI to file an FIR quickly, noting it would help the ED deepen its money-laundering probe.

The ED said it will meet the CBI, SEBI and SFIO within two weeks for better coordination, and highlighted delays caused by ignored complaints in Delhi and Mumbai.

The court set the next hearing for December 17, expecting clear updates from all agencies. Meanwhile, Sammaan Capital's share price is now nearly 19 per cent below its November 3 peak.

Cement sector set for strong profit surge in FY26

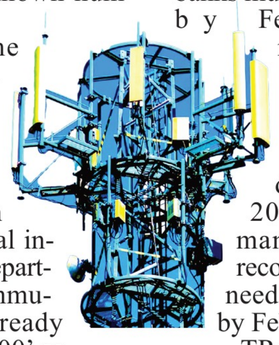
NEW DELHI

India's cement industry is expected to witness a sharp jump in profits in the Financial Year 2026 (FY26), with overall earnings likely to grow more than 63 per cent, a new report by Dolat Capital has said. This rise will mainly come from a low base and steady cost-cutting measures taken by companies across the sector. The report describes this as one of the strongest earnings recoveries for the industry in recent years, even though cement prices remain under pressure. The report notes that the sector saw mixed performance in the second quarter of FY26 because of seasonal slowdown, which kept volume growth weak. However, the rebound in FY26 is expected to be supported by strong growth in demand.

TRAI sets deadlines for '1600' calling series adoption

NEW DELHI

The Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI) has issued strict deadlines for banks, financial service firms, insurance bodies, and government organisations to fully adopt the '1600' calling series. This move aims to help people clearly identify genuine service and transaction calls and avoid fraud carried out through unknown numbers.



TRAI said the new system will reduce spam and protect customers from fraudsters who pretend to be from banks or financial institutions. The Department of Telecommunications has already assigned the '1600' series for use by regulated organisations under the RBI, SEBI, PFRDA, and various government bodies. According to TRAI, this will make it easier for the public to trust calls coming from these approved numbers.

As per the new schedule, mutual funds and asset management companies must finish the shift by February 15, 2026. Qualified stockbrokers have been given time until March 15, 2026, while other SEBI-registered intermediaries can choose to migrate voluntarily for now.

Commercial banks — including public, private, and foreign banks — must adopt the series by January 1, 2026. Large NBFCs, payment banks, and small finance banks must complete the shift by February 1, 2026, and remaining NBFCs, co-operative banks, regional rural banks, and other small entities must do so by March 1, 2026. Pension fund managers and central record-keeping agencies need to adopt the series by February 15, 2026.

TRAI said discussions are still underway with the insurance regulator IRDAI for final deadlines in the insurance sector.

So far, about 485 organisations have already adopted the new series. TRAI said the phased plan will improve customer safety and reduce impersonation-based frauds linked to financial calls.

Korean parties clash over credit after Lone Star ruling annulled

SEOUL

South Korea's political parties sharply disagreed on Wednesday over who deserves credit after a World Bank tribunal canceled its earlier order that required the country to pay $216.5 million plus interest to US-based Lone Star Funds. The International Center for Settlement of Investment Disputes (ICSID) had imposed the fine in 2022 following a decade-long dispute over Lone Star's sale of Korea Exchange Bank (KEB). An ICSID annulment committee has now overturned the ruling in full.

The ruling Democratic Party (DP) celebrated the outcome. DP leader Jung Chung-rae said he was pleased the nation would not have to pay nearly 400 billion won. Supreme Council member Jeon Hyun-heui praised government officials for achieving what she called a "miraculous" result, while Rep. Park Jie-won said the decision was a major diplomatic success for the Lee Jae Myung administration, noting that full annulments of ICSID awards are rare.

However, the main opposition People Power Party (PPP) insisted the achievement belonged to the previous Yoon Suk Yeol administration. Former PPP leader Han Dong-hoon, justice minister at the time of the appeal, demanded an apology from the DP for earlier criticizing his decision to continue the legal fight in 2022.

DP lawmakers rejected his claim, accusing him of trying to take credit.

PPP's Park Sung-hoon said the DP once claimed the appeal had "zero" chance but is now taking credit, as both Seoul and Lone Star challenged the 2022 ruling that ended in this week's annulment.

NPCI aims to transform credit usage through UPI expansion

NEW DELHI

The National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI) is preparing for another major change in the country's payment system, similar to how it earlier transformed debit payments through the Unified Payments Interface (UPI). A new report by Bernstein says NPCI is now set to reshape the use of credit cards in India. The report explains that India's digital payment network, supported by UPI, RuPay and other government-backed systems, has created the right setting for people to move away from old card networks. UPI currently handles more than 90 per cent of retail digital payments by volume. Its QR-based payment system has removed the need for costly card-swiping machines, leading to a sharp drop in debit card usage. Most people now prefer UPI because it is fast, easy and free. The next big change, according to the report, is the linking of RuPay credit cards to UPI. This will let users pay through QR codes while still using their credit limit.

The report says RuPay's share in UPI-linked credit card payments has quickly risen from 10 per cent to 38 per cent. This shift is expected to bring more people into the credit system. It also highlights that major fintech apps such as PhonePe, Paytm and Google Pay, which together handle more than 90 per cent of UPI transactions, are likely to benefit the most.

With credit now entering the UPI ecosystem, fintech companies may gain new income opportunities, expand their financial services and reduce dependence on older card networks. The report adds that physical credit cards may slowly lose relevance, just like debit cards, as India's digital payment system continues to grow.

Ambani Orgochem posts strong revenue and EBITDA growth

MUMBAI

Ambani Orgochem Limited has reported strong financial growth for the first half of FY26, showing a 33.51 per cent rise in revenue and a 76.77 per cent jump in EBITDA compared with the same period last year. The company posted revenue of ₹109.15 crore for the half year ended September 30, 2025. Managing Director Rakesh H Shah said the improvement came from stabilising operations at the Dahej plant, increasing the share of value-added Salicylates and Peroxide derivatives, and efficient supply-chain management.

Production at the Dahej unit has been improving steadily each month, helping raise capacity use and streamline operations. The Tarapur units also continued to perform well, supporting overall growth even as Dahej is still functioning at partial capacity. The company said it is exploring more opportunities to supply value-added products to ensure steady sales in the coming months.

During the period, Ambani Orgochem focused on improving working-capital.

PETCARE LAUNCH

RCPL launches 'Waggies' offering affordable pet nutrition

BENGALURU

Reliance Consumer Products Limited (RCPL), the FMCG arm of Reliance Industries Limited, has entered the growing pet-care market with the launch of Waggies, a new pet-food brand aimed at providing high-quality nutrition at affordable prices for pet parents across India.

RCPL said Waggies has been developed to offer complete and balanced nutrition, backed by strong scientific research. The company said the goal is to make everyday pet care easier and more accessible by offering products that combine reliable nutrition with value-driven pricing.

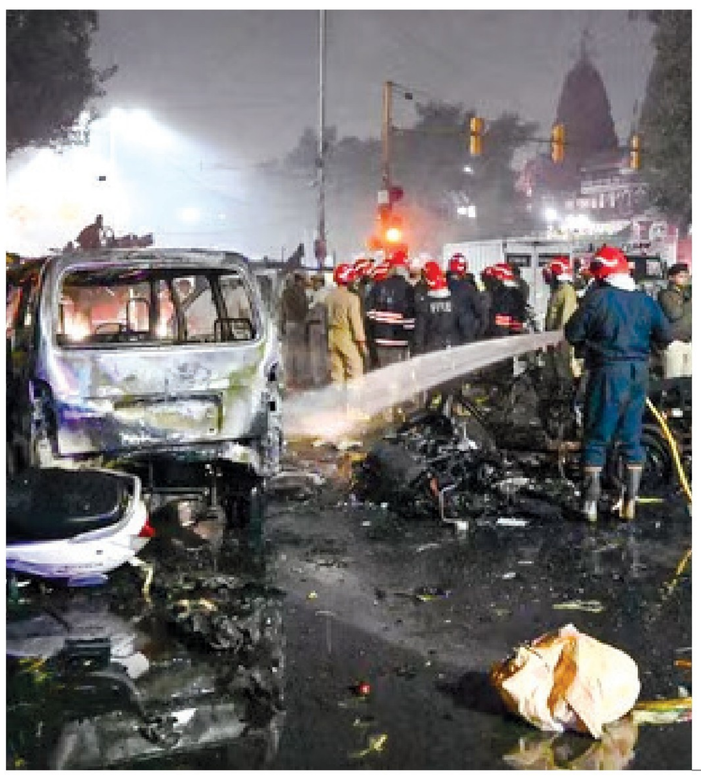
According to RCPL, the Waggies range is built on science-based formulations enriched with herbs, DHA for brain development, essential vitamins, and easily digestible ingredients that support overall pet health. The brand's core belief is that every pet deserves proper nutrition, not just those from households that can afford premium products.

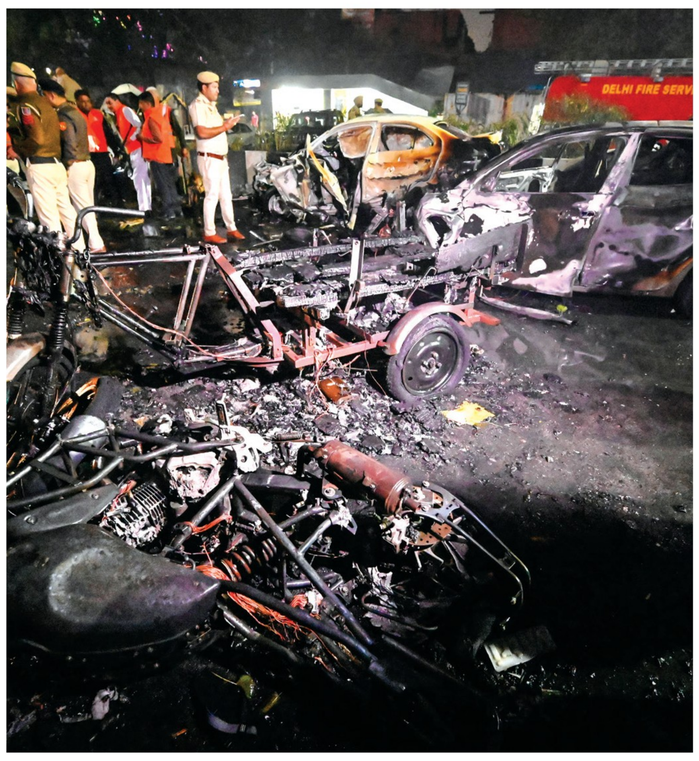
Ketan Mody, Executive Director at RCPL, said Waggies has been designed to deliver "superior value" by combining enhanced nutrition with affordability. He said the products offer extra protein, prebiotics for better digestion, balanced energy through the day, and support for joint, skin, and coat health. Mody added that the company wants to ensure that pet parents across India can access global-quality nutrition without stretching their budgets.

Guided by its philosophy of "From Few Households to Many," RCPL aims to close the affordability gap with packs starting at ₹199 per kg. Waggies is priced at ₹199 while the Waggies Pro range begins at ₹249. The brand has also introduced 100-gram trial packs priced at ₹20 to encourage new pet parents to try the products before switching fully. RCPL said the new brand will support healthier choices and make quality pet nutrition widely accessible.

Shadows over the Red Fort:

Unraveling India's Latest Terror Nightmare





The sun was dipping low over Old Delhi on November 10, 2025, casting a golden glow on the ancient walls of the Red Fort. Tourists snapped photos, vendors hawked spicy chaat, and families hurried home through the bustling streets near the metro station. It was just another evening in India's vibrant capital, a city of 30 million souls where history and hustle collide daily. Then, at 6:52 p.m., a white Hyundai i20 slowed at a traffic light. The driver, Dr. Umar Un Nabi—a soft-spoken assistant professor of medicine from Kashmir—detonated the bomb hidden in his car. The blast ripped through the crowd, killing 15 people, including innocent shoppers and commuters, and injuring 28 more. Shattered glass and twisted metal flew everywhere, turning a lively bazaar into a scene of horror.

Eyewitnesses described the chaos screams echoing off the fort's red sandstone, blood staining the pavement, and the acrid smell of ammonium nitrate fuel oil—an explosive mix smuggled into the car over weeks. "It was like the ground swallowed us whole," said Priya Sharma, a 32-year-old teacher who lost her leg in the attack. Her words capture the raw fear that gripped Delhi that night. This wasn't just an explosion; it was a suicide bombing, the first car-borne one in the capital since 2011, and India's deadliest in years. The National Investigation Agency (NIA) quickly took over, confirming Un Nabi as the bomber—a man with a medical degree from Al Falah University in Faridabad, radicalized through online channels linked to Pakistan's Jaish-e-Mohammed (JeM).

As investigators pieced together the plot, a chilling picture emerged. Un Nabi wasn't a lone wolf; he was part of a "white-collar" terror cell of educated professionals—doctors, engineers, and graduates—who used their skills to build bombs and evade detection. Raids in Faridabad uncovered 2,900 kg of explosives, enough for 32 more car bombs, hidden in a university-linked house. A video surfaced days later, showing Un Nabi calmly defending "martyrdom operations" as misunderstood acts of faith, not suicide. "When a person knows he will die for a cause, it's not suicide—it's sacrifice," he said, his eyes steady in the grainy footage. This attack, just months after the deadly Pahalgam massacre in April that killed 26 tourists and sparked a brief India-Pakistan war, has shaken India to its core. It raises urgent questions: How did a healer become a harbinger of death? What drives educated youth to terror? And in a nation of 1.4 billion, how do we stop the next blast? This feature explores the Delhi Red Fort suicide bombing through eight lenses, drawing on official probes, expert insights, and survivor stories to uncover its layers.

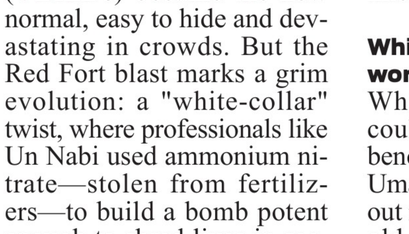
TECHNICAL SOPHISTICATION: ROCKET & DRONE PLANS

The Red Fort bomb was child's play compared to what the cell planned next. NIA interrogations of Jasir Bilal Wani, a Qazigund graduate arrested in Srinagar, unveiled a nightmare: Hamas-style drone swarms and mini-rockets aimed at Delhi's temples, bases, and hospitals. "They wanted October 7 in India," an investigator told me, referencing the 2023 Gaza assault.

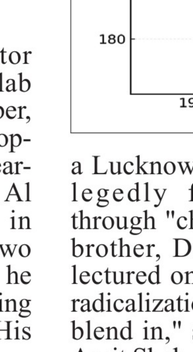
THE 'SHOE BOMBER' HYPOTHESIS

- Under the driver's seat of a car involved in the Red Fort attack, investigators found a scorched boot with TATP residue on it
- Hybrid explosive: TATP crystals mixed with ANFO
- Hypothesized to act as backup or further amplify the car explosion

DRONE ATTACK PLOT



- Srinagar grad arrested for planning swarming drone attacks on Delhi
- Commercial drones modified to deliver explosive payloads
- Planned targets: temples, bases, hospitals
- Apartment rooftop launch of PVC pipe rockets



Wani, the cell's tech whiz, modified commercial drones—bought off Amazon—to carry 5-kg payloads of TATP and nails, guided by JeM blueprints from Pakistan. Rockets? Crude but deadly: PVC pipes packed with fertilizer explosives, launched from rooftops for 2-km strikes.

The plot, codenamed "D-6," targeted six sites, including Parliament. "Drones are cheap—Rs 50,000 each—and hard to jam," says drone expert P.V. Ramana from IDSA. "One swarm could kill hundreds."

This sophistication stems from global leaks. JeM, founded by Masood Azhar, trains in Afghanistan camps, blending Taliban grit with Chinese drone tech. India's 2025 Pahalgam attack used smuggled AKs; Red Fort added chemistry. Raids seized timers, circuits, and 350 kg ammonium nitrate—controlled substances procured via fake farm licenses. When drones failed (Wani's prototypes crashed), they pivoted to cars. The implications? Urban skies as battlegrounds. Delhi's 500+ drones for delivery now face terror twins. NSG trains against this, but gaps remain—India's air defense radars spot jets, not quadcopters. "Tech levels the field," warns Brahma Chellaney. "A laptop jihadist outsmarts tanks." The Red Fort was a warning shot; the real war is aerial.

THE "SHOE BOMBER" HYPOTHESIS

Under the charred Hyundai's driver's seat lay a scorched boot, laced with TATP residue—the same volatile powder that nearly downed an American jet in 2001. NIA's "shoe bomber" hypothesis suggests Un Nabi hid a secondary device in his footwear, meant to amplify the car blast or serve as backup if it fizzled. It's a nod to Richard Reid, the al-Qaeda foot soldier who tried igniting PETN-packed sneakers on Flight 63, foiled only by quick passengers. Reid's plot, trained in Kandahar, killed none but birthed TSA shoe scans worldwide. Here, forensics show TATP crystals in Un Nabi's boot, mixed with ANFO for a hybrid blast—perhaps to pierce the car's armor if needed. "It was insurance," says a Delhi Police bomb squad officer. "Detonate shoes, turn the car into a fireball." This tactic's allure? Concealment.

Reid smuggled 10 ounces undetected; Un Nabi, a doctor, knew chemistry to stabilize it. JeM's evolution from Pulwama trucks to personal bombs shows adaptation—post-9/11, aviation tightened, so they hit streets.

But risks abound: TATP's instability caused Reid's lighter to fail; Un Nabi's may have triggered early, killing fewer than planned.

The hypothesis terrifies: everyday items as weapons. India's markets teem with unchecked shoes; one spark, and history repeats. As one analyst quips, "From soles to souls—they're stepping into hell, one boot at a time."

Drone–Rocket Plot (Red Fort Aftermath)

- NIA interrogations revealed a major terror plot involving Hamas-style drone swarms and mini-rockets aimed at Delhi landmarks.
- Jasir Bilal Wani, a tech-savvy graduate from Qazigund, modified Amazon-bought drones to carry 5-kg TATP-and-nail payloads using JeM designs from Pakistan.
- The cell also prepared crude PVC-pipe rockets packed with fertilizer explosives capable of striking targets 2 km away from rooftops.
- The plot, codenamed "D-6," included six high-profile targets—among them Parliament, temples, military bases, and hospitals.
- Experts warn that drones costing barely ₹50,000 are hard to jam and a single swarm could cause mass casualties.
- JeM's training mix—Taliban-style combat paired with Chinese drone tech—has boosted their sophistication, as seen in earlier attacks like Pahalgam 2025.
- Raids recovered detonators, circuits, timers, and 350 kg of ammonium nitrate procured using fake farm licenses.
- After drone prototypes crashed during tests, the cell shifted its plan toward car-based attacks like the Red Fort blast.

EVOLUTION OF TERROR TACTICS

Terror in India has shape-shifted over decades, from crude bombs in the 1990s to today's high-tech horrors. Back in 1993, 13 coordinated blasts in Mumbai killed 257, using simple car bombs packed with RDX smuggled from abroad. That was the era of Dawood Ibrahim's D-Company, blending mafia muscle with Islamist fury. By 2008, Lashkar-e-Taiba's gunmen stormed Mumbai's hotels in a 60-hour siege, killing 166 with AK-47s and grenades—a shift to commando-style raids.

FAST-FORWARD TO 2019

JeM's suicide bomber rammed an explosives-laden SUV into a CRPF convoy in Pulwama, killing 40 jawans. Vehicle-borne IEDs (VBIEDs) became the new normal, easy to hide and devastating in crowds. But the Red Fort blast marks a grim evolution: a "white-collar" twist, where professionals like Un Nabi used ammonium nitrate—stolen from fertilizers—to build a bomb potent enough to shred lives in seconds. NIA forensics showed traces of TATP, the "mother of Satan" explosive, hinting at lab-like sophistication.

Experts like Ajai Sahni from the Institute for Conflict Management say tactics are "globalizing." Drones, once toys, now drop grenades; cyber tools radicalize from afar. In Kashmir alone, attacks on civilians dropped 30% post-Article 370 abrogation in 2019, but IEDs and ambushes rose. The Red Fort plot, with its 3,000 kg explosives cache, echoes ISIS playbooks: low-cost, high-impact, aimed at soft targets like markets. "Terror no longer needs armies," Sahni notes. "It needs chemists and coders." This evolution preys on urban density—Delhi's 1,000 people per square km make every street a potential kill zone. As India urbanizes, so does the threat, turning everyday commutes into gambles with death.

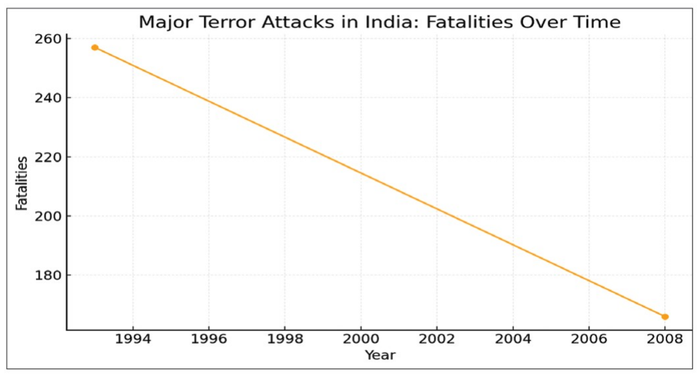
White-Collar Terror Networks

Who would guess a doctor could craft death from a lab bench? The Red Fort bomber, Umar Un Nabi, wasn't a dropout radical; he was a 35-year-old assistant professor at Al Falah University, fluent in English, with a wife and two kids back in Pulwama. Yet he drove a bomb to Delhi, dying in the flames he ignited. His story unmasks India's

"white-collar" terror networks:

Educated elites weaponizing brains over bullets.

Jammu and Kashmir Police first cracked this code in October 2025, busting a JeM-linked module after threat posters appeared in Srinagar. Eight arrests revealed a web of professionals—two doctors, an imam, engineers—coordinating via Telegram from safe jobs in Faridabad and Lucknow. Dr. Shaheen Saeed, a Lucknow gynecologist, allegedly funneled funds through "charity" NGOs; her brother, Dr. Pervez Anzari, lectured on anatomy by day, radicalization by night. "They blend in," says NIA director Amit Shah. "Doctors heal, but these poison."



This isn't new, but it's scaling. Post-2014, ISIS recruited 100+ Indians online, many graduates from Kerala and Bengal. Gulf remittances—$50 billion yearly—carry Wahhabi texts alongside cash. In the Red Fort cell, ten members plotted 32 VBIEDs as "revenge for Babri," sourcing SIMs from Nepal and cars from Kanpur. Their edge? Credibility. Un Nabi's stethoscope bought trust; his laptop hid blueprints.

Enforcement Directorate raids hit 25 sites tied to Al Falah, freezing accounts and exposing a "terror ecosystem." But why join? Recruiters like Shafi Armar, a Karnataka engineer turned JeM handler in Syria, prey on alienation. "It's ideology plus power," says counter-terror expert Rituraj Mate. "Doctors see patients die from poverty; terror promises purpose." In India, 42 banned groups thrive on this, from JeM's 500 operatives to SIMI's shadowy cells. The Red Fort blast, premature after raids spooked Un Nabi, shows how these networks adapt—failing big plots but still spilling blood. As one survivor whispered, "They wear white coats, but carry black hearts."

1993 Mumbai Serial Blasts

- Fatalities: 257
- Type: Coordinated car bomb explosions.
- Method: Crude bombs packed with smuggled RDX.
- Group/Network: D-Company (Dawood Ibrahim).
- Notable Shift: Mafia + extremist collaboration.

2008 Mumbai Attacks (26/11)

- Fatalities: 166
- Type: Multi-location commando-style terror assault.
- Method: AK-47s, grenades, urban warfare tactics.
- Group/Network: Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT).
- Notable Shift: High-tech, military-style coordinated siege.

Saina, Gade to Lead Legends' Vision Legacy Tour in Delhi

NEW DELHI

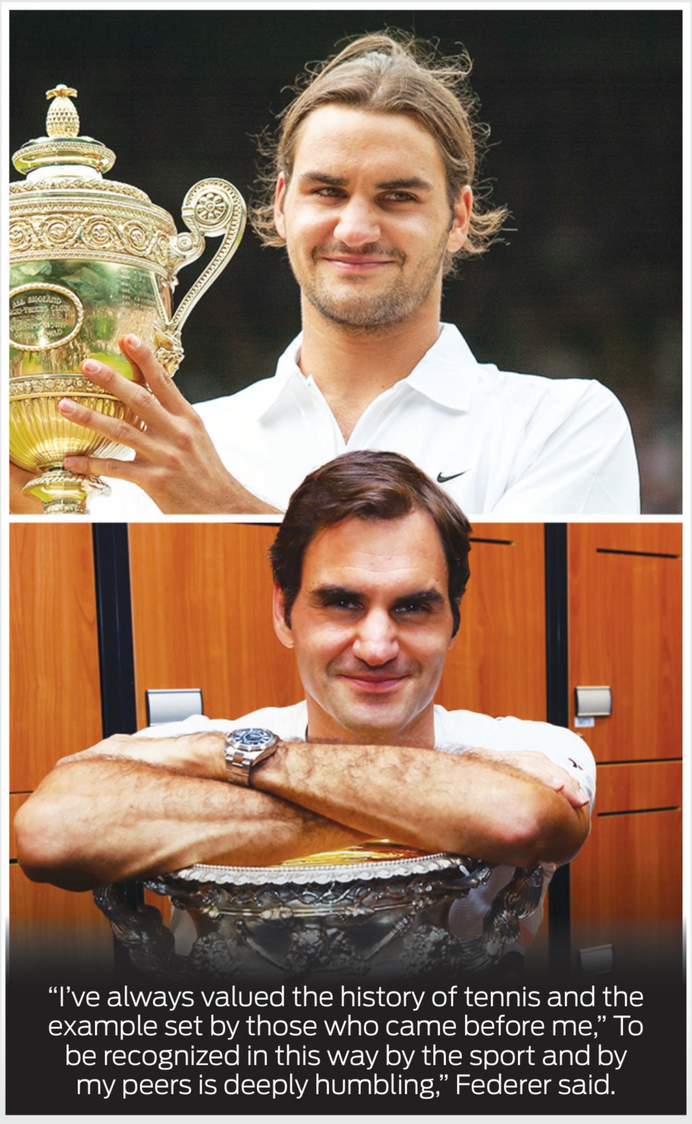
Indian badminton superstar Saina Nehwal and Danish great Peter Gade will headline The Legends' Vision Legacy Tour India, a global initiative aimed at promoting badminton through community engagement, youth-oriented activities and strategic local partnerships. The Legacy Tour, making its return to India after eight years, is scheduled for November 23 and 24 at the Siri Fort Sports Complex in the national capital.

Saina, a London Olympics bronze-medallist and one of the newest members of the Legends' Vision platform alongside Olympic champion Carolina Marin, expressed her delight at bringing the initiative back to her home country. "Badminton has given me everything in life, and it is always special to return to the court in a way that inspires young players," she said.

The opening day of the tour, November 23, will feature interactive junior exhibitions involving Saina, Gade and Legends' Vision Ambassadors, giving young shuttlers a rare chance to learn from global greats. The day will also see the official launch of A Racquet's Second Life in India, a sustainability-driven initiative that seeks to extend the lifespan of badminton equipment while supporting grassroots participation.

Badminton icons Saina Nehwal and Peter Gade will spearhead the returning Legacy Tour

Gade, the 1999 All England champion and one of the sport's most respected figures, highlighted the deeper purpose behind the programme. "This initiative has always been about giving back to the global badminton community, and I'm proud to see the message continue to grow," he said. On November 24, the second day of the tour, Legends' Vision will expand its outreach across Delhi-NCR. Fans will have opportunities to interact with Saina and Gade through meet-and-greet sessions, allowing enthusiasts to connect with the stars and further celebrate the sport's growing legacy in India.



"I've always valued the history of tennis and the example set by those who came before me," To be recognized in this way by the sport and by my peers is deeply humbling," Federer said.

Roger Federer elected to Int'l Tennis Hall of Fame in debut year

The Swiss icon becomes the only player inducted in Class of 2026, cementing his status among tennis' all-time greats

NEWPORT

Roger Federer, one of the most celebrated athletes in sporting history, has been elected to the International Tennis Hall of Fame in his first year of eligibility, the Hall announced on Wednesday. The Swiss icon becomes the only player inducted in the Class of 2026, cementing his status among tennis' all-time greats.

Federer, the first man to win 20 Grand Slam singles titles, dominated world tennis for nearly two decades, forming a historic rivalry with Rafael Nadal and Novak Djokovic during what he once described as "a golden time for tennis." His induction comes as little surprise to fans and peers, given his unmatched longevity, artistry and sportsmanship.

"I've always valued the history of tennis and the example set by those who came before me," Federer said. "To be recognized in this way by the sport and by my peers is deeply humbling."

Known for his graceful footwork, elegant stroke-making and serene on-court presence, Federer completed a career Grand Slam with titles across all four majors — eight at Wimbledon, six at the Australian Open, five at the US Open and one at Roland Garros. His 103 singles titles and 1,251 match wins rank second only to Jimmy Connors in the Open era.

Federer spent 310 weeks as world No. 1, including a record 237 consecutive weeks, and also led Switzerland to the 2014 Davis Cup crown. His final match came at the Laver Cup in 2022, where he bid farewell alongside Nadal in an emotional doubles contest. Also elected this year was renowned broadcaster Mary Carillo, honoured in the contributor category for pioneering commentary work and award-winning storytelling. The Class of 2026 will be formally inducted at a ceremony in Newport next August, as the tennis world prepares for future ballots featuring Serena Williams and Ash Barty.

'I've Never Faced Disrespect in India', says Kevin Pietersen

NEW DELHI

Kevin Pietersen shares heartfelt reasons behind his long-standing admiration for India

Former England batting star Kevin Pietersen has offered a candid explanation for why he is often perceived as "pro" India, revealing that two decades of uninterrupted warmth, respect and positivity from the country and its people have shaped his affection. The 45-year-old, who earned a massive fan following in India through his IPL stints and memorable international knocks on Indian soil, responded to critics and curious fans through a long post on X.

Pietersen, who continues to visit India frequently as an IPL mentor and commentator, said that not once in over 20 years has he encountered disrespect or negativity during his stays. "People often ask why I seem so 'pro' India. Answer is simple: in over 20 years and dozens of trips, I have NEVER once faced disrespect, negativity, backstabbing or bad energy there. Not once! Only love, kindness, loyalty, warmth and respect — every single time," he wrote.

He added that India had given him lifelong friendships he deeply cherishes. Emphasising that respect must be earned, Pietersen said he believes he gained that admiration by giving his best on the field, whether playing against India or representing IPL teams. "Friends who became family. Brothers for life… I like to think I earned mine by producing the goods on the cricket field year after year," he noted.

In the final part of his post, Pietersen said the unreserved warmth he received from Indians has left a lasting emotional imprint. "When a country and its people give you nothing but pure positive energy your entire adult life, that love gets returned tenfold. India gave me its heart first. So India will always have mine," he said.

Pietersen, now a mentor with Delhi Capitals, remains one of England's most prolific batters with over 8,000 Test runs and nearly 4,500 ODI runs.

Football: European 2026 World Cup qualifying tables

PARIS

European qualifying for the 2026 FIFA World Cup moved closer to conclusion, with several continental heavyweights sealing their places at the tournament in the United States, Canada and Mexico. The latest round of matches confirmed group winners, playoff contenders and a few dramatic late shifts across the 12 qualification groups.

Germany, Spain, France and Portugal all topped their respective groups with commanding records, underlining their status as World Cup regulars. Scotland, Switzerland and Croatia also secured direct qualification after consistent campaigns. Among the most dominant performers were England, who finished Group K with a perfect 8–0–0 record without conceding a single goal, and Norway, flawless in Group I with eight wins in eight.

Playoff spots were claimed by familiar European names including Italy, Ukraine, Turkey, Poland, Bosnia-Herzegovina, Wales and the Czech Republic, alongside rising teams such as Albania and Northern Ireland. These sides will now battle through a two-round playoff route, joined by the four highest-ranked Nations League teams not already qualified.

England: 8W | 0D | 0L | GF 22 | GA 0

Norway: 8W | 0D | 0L | GF 37 | GA 5

Netherlands: 6W | 2D | 0L | GF 27 | GA 4

FIFA to Probe Malaysian FA after Players Banned for Forged Documents

KUALA LUMPUR

FIFA has announced a full-scale investigation into the internal functioning of the Football Association of Malaysia (FAM) after seven naturalised players were handed 12-month bans for allegedly using forged documents to qualify for national selection. The disciplinary action stems from Malaysia's 4-0 win over Vietnam in a 2027 Asian Cup qualifier in June, where all seven players featured.

According to FIFA, the inquiry will examine how doctored paperwork was submitted to prove Malaysian lineage, identify those responsible for the falsification, and assess whether FAM's governance and compliance mechanisms were adequate. "This investigation shall aim to identify the individuals responsible… and determine whether additional disciplinary measures are warranted," the world body said.

Malaysia's football association has vowed to appeal the ruling at the Court of Arbitration for Sport, insisting that the integrity of the eligibility process must be preserved. Acting President Mohd Yusoff Mahadi said the appeal was necessary "to ensure that justice is upheld," adding that the association would cooperate fully with authorities.

Rohit Sharma

Slips to Second as Daryl Mitchell Claims No. 1 ODI Ranking

Despite Rohit's demotion, India continue to dominate the top bracket of ODI batting with four Indians, Shubman Gill, Virat Kohli, Shreyas Iyer and Rohit, remaining inside the top 10, underlining the team's depth in the format. Gill, currently recovering from a neck injury, is at No. 4 and remains India's highest-ranked batter.

DUBAI

Indian captain Rohit Sharma's short-lived stint at the top of the ICC ODI batters' rankings ended on Wednesday as New Zealand's Daryl Mitchell rose to No. 1 following a superb century against the West Indies. Mitchell, who smashed his seventh ODI hundred in the opening game of the series, became only the second New Zealander after Glenn Turner in 1979 to hold the premier spot in ODI batting.

Mitchell now sits on 782 rating points — just one ahead of Rohit — whose reign at the summit lasted around three weeks. The in-form Kiwi joins a distinguished list of New Zealanders such as Martin Crowe, Kane Williamson and Ross Taylor who have broken into the top five over the years, though none besides Turner and Mitchell have ever claimed the top rank.

Afghanistan's Ibrahim Zadran slipped to third, while India continue to enjoy strong representation in the top bracket with Shubman Gill (4th), Virat Kohli (5th) and Shreyas Iyer (8th) all featuring inside the top 10.

Pakistan players also made significant gains after their 3-0 ODI series sweep over Sri Lanka. Mohammad Rizwan climbed five spots to joint 22nd, while Fakhar Zaman rose to 26th. In the bowling charts, Abrar Ahmed jumped 11 places to ninth and Haris Rauf moved up to 23rd, though Afghanistan's Rashid Khan continues to lead the ODI bowling rankings.

Across formats, the latest Test rankings saw South Africa captain Temba Bavuma break into the top five for the first time following his resilient 55* against India in Kolkata. Shubman Gill rose to 11th despite sustaining an injury, while Bangladesh skipper Najmul Hossain Shanto climbed to equal 34th after a century in Sylhet.

India's Jasprit Bumrah retained his No. 1 position among Test bowlers, with teammates Kuldeep Yadav and Ravindra Jadeja also improving their standings. South Africa's Marco Jansen and Simon Harmer made notable progress, with Jansen additionally moving to fifth among Test all-rounders.

World Boxing Cup Finals: Returning Arundhati delivers statement performance

GREATER NOIDA

Arundhati Choudhary waited more than a year for a moment like this. After the heartbreak of missing the 2024 Olympics and enduring a long recovery from wrist surgery, the 23-year-old Rajasthan boxer announced her return to international competition in the most emphatic fashion, producing a commanding Referee Stops Contest (RSC) win at the World Boxing Cup Finals in Greater Noida.

Facing Germany's in-form Leonie Mueller—who had medalled at all three stages of the World Boxing Cup this year—Arundhati was a class apart. The former youth world champion dictated the pace from the opening bell, flooring Mueller in the second round before knocking her down again in the third to secure a decisive victory and book her place in the final.

"I am delighted to be back with an RSC win," Arundhati said after the bout. "I was nervous because my last international experience was a loss in the Paris qualifiers before my wrist surgery. But I reminded myself that this is what I've been waiting for—and now I'm back."

Her dominant outing follows a gold-winning performance at the BFI Cup 2025 in Chennai last month, which earned her selection for India's World Cup Finals squad. Training at ASI Pune after her surgery, she had spoken earlier of wanting to sharpen her footwork and uppercuts—improvements that were on full display in Greater Noida.

Tuesday also brought strong results for India's contingent. Parveen Hooda, returning from suspension, edged Poland's World Cup silver medallist Aneta Rygielska 3-2. Reigning world champion Meenakshi Hooda (48kg) cruised to a 5-0 win over Australia's Marlon Sevehon, while Nupur Sheoran (+80kg) outclassed Ukraine's Mariia Lovchynska.

In the men's draw, Abhinash Jamwal (65kg) recorded a clinical 5-0 victory over Ukraine's Elvin Aliyev, rounding off a highly successful day for India.

You cannot win every day, I'm always cheering for India: Manu Bhaker

NEW DELHI

Double Olympic medallist Manu Bhaker has taken her below-par showing at the ISSF World Championships in stride, insisting that an athlete cannot win every single day while expressing pride in India's overall performance. Bhaker, who surprisingly missed out on a podium finish despite 13 Indian medals at the event, said she remains India's "biggest cheerleader" irrespective of who stands on the podium.

Olympic star Manu Bhaker embraces setbacks, stressing team success over personal glory

"I was aiming for medals at the World Championships. My performance was good, I scored decently but couldn't make it to the podium. My teammate Esha Singh did... in sports you cannot win every day, sometimes you lose as well," Bhaker said at the launch of ASMITA (Achieving Sports Milestone by Inspiring Women).

"For me, India should win a medal and it shouldn't be about me or someone else. As long as India is winning, in any sport, I am cheering," she added.

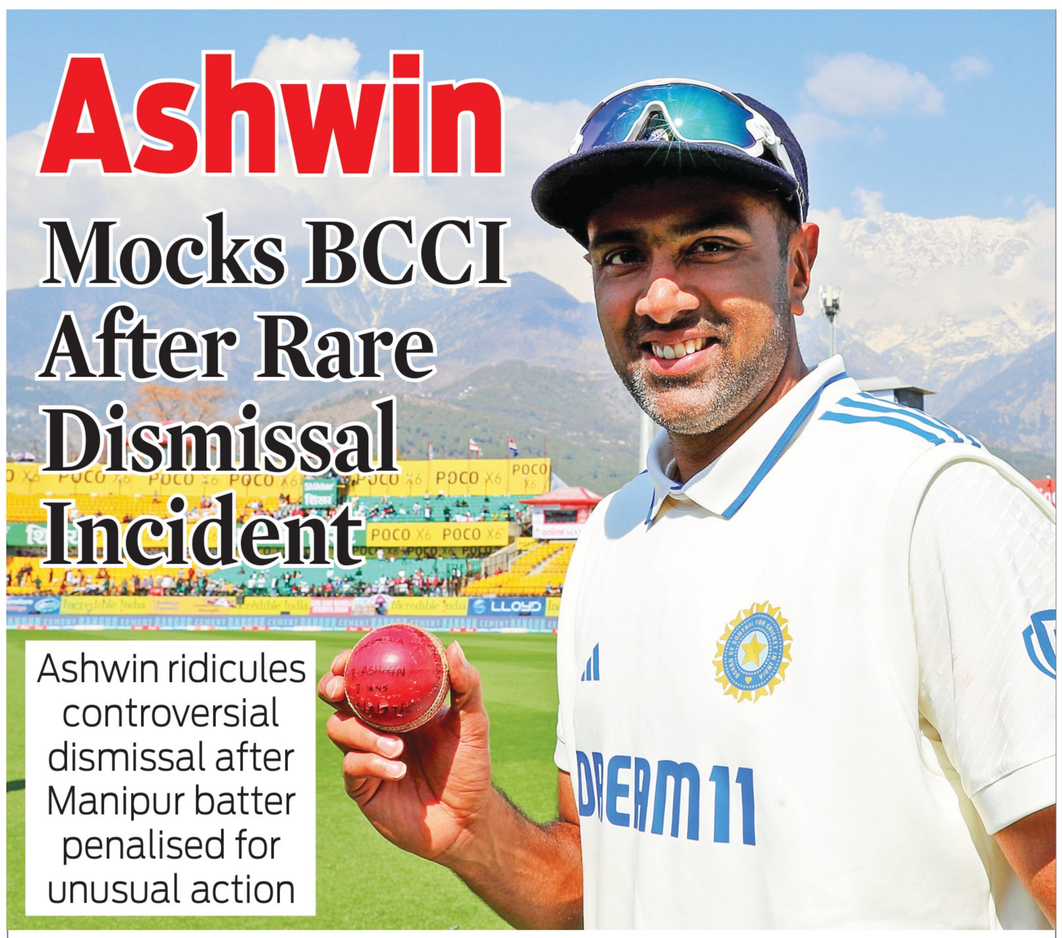
Following her Olympic highs in Paris, Bhaker has had a quieter year, with the bronze in the women's 10m air pistol at the Asian Championship being her notable achievement.

She praised India's specially-abled shooters after Dhanush Srikanth clinched gold with a world record and Mohammad Vania bagged silver at the Tokyo Deaflympics. "Their fighting spirit is incredible. We learn so much from them," she said.

Reflecting on ASMITA, Bhaker said the initiative can reshape rural mindsets about girls in sports. "Coming from a rural background, I faced issues about mentality. Initiatives like this will bring change. Women have done tremendously well in recent Olympics. It is high time we support them."

Bhaker remains the first Indian athlete to win two medals in a single Olympic Games.

Ashwin Mocks BCCI After Rare Dismissal Incident



Ashwin ridicules controversial dismissal after Manipur batter penalised for unusual action

IMPHAL

Former India off-spinner Ravichandran Ashwin took a sharp yet humorous dig at the BCCI after Manipur batter Lamabam Ajay Singh was controversially given out for "hitting the ball twice" during a Ranji Trophy Plate Group match against Meghalaya on Wednesday. The rare dismissal left the cricketing fraternity puzzled, especially as the scorecard curiously recorded the mode of dismissal as "hit wicket."

Ajay Singh, attempting to prevent the ball from rolling back onto his stumps after defending it, used his bat to block it a second time — prompting umpire Dharmesh Bhardwaj to declare him out. A venue official told that the batter walked off immediately once Meghalaya appealed.

Ashwin, reacting on X, mocked the decision with a gully-cricket anecdote. "Today I got out in gully cricket for the rarest crime ever — hitting the ball twice… the entire lane shouting 'OUTTT!' louder than a World Cup final," he wrote. He followed it up with a pointed comment: "It's out only in gully cricket and not according to the actual laws of the game."

The MCC Laws do address such a mode of dismissal. Clause 34.1.1 states that a striker is out "hit the ball twice" if they wilfully strike the ball again while it is in play, except when the second strike is made solely to protect the wicket. The interpretation of "wilful" and the exception for saving the stumps appears central to the debate around Wednesday's decision.

Such dismissals are exceedingly rare in domestic cricket. The last known instance in the Ranji Trophy dates back to the 2005–06 season, when Jammu & Kashmir captain Dhruv Mahajan was ruled out similarly.

Ashwin's remarks have reignited discussions over umpiring standards and the application of cricket's more obscure laws, adding yet another quirky chapter to the Ranji Trophy's long history.

India's rapidly growing pickleball ecosystem received a major boost with new league franchises

Indian Pickleball League Unveils Five Franchises for Debut Season

NEW DELHI

The Indian Pickleball League (IPBL) has officially announced its first five franchises for the inaugural season, marking a significant leap in the sport's expansion across major urban centres. Sanctioned by the Indian Pickleball Association under the Ministry of Youth Affairs & Sports, the league aims to position pickleball as India's next breakout sport through a city-based, fan-friendly format. The unveiling took place at a high-profile launch event in Chennai, graced by Tamil Nadu Deputy Chief Minister Thiru Udhayanidhi Stalin. Actors Sreeleela and Kayadu Lohar added star presence, while India's top pickleball talents, including Mihika Yadav and Aman Patel, reinforced the sport's growing competitive depth.

The first set of teams features representation from key metros: Gurgaon Capital Warriors (M3M Gurugram), Mumbai Smashers (Nazara Mumbai/Absolute Sports), Bengaluru Blasters, Chennai Super Warriors (Accord Group), and Hyderabad Royals (Operam Ventures). A sixth franchise is expected shortly.

The debut season will be held at New Delhi's KD Jadhav Indoor Hall at the Indira Gandhi Stadium from December 1–7, 2025, bringing together elite Indian and international players. The broadcast-oriented format is designed to draw new audiences through fast-paced, high-energy action.

Gurugram's maiden entry into a national sports league was hailed by M3M India Director Pankaj Bansal, who described it as a landmark moment for the city's sporting culture.

Gill to Travel for Guwahati Test; Participation Decision Pending Medical Clearance

GUWAHATI

India captain Shubman Gill, who sat out most of the first Test in Kolkata due to a neck injury, will travel with the squad to Guwahati for the second Test beginning November 22, the BCCI confirmed on Wednesday. Gill suffered the injury while attempting a slog-sweep against Simon Harmer and retired hurt after facing just four balls. He was later taken to hospital for evaluation and ruled out of the remainder of the match.

The 26-year-old was discharged on Sunday evening after being kept under observation. Speculation over his availability intensified earlier this week, but the BCCI clarified that the captain is responding well to treatment and will accompany the team as planned. "He will continue to be monitored by the BCCI medical team and a decision on his participation in the 2nd Test will be taken accordingly," the board said in a post on X.

Injured India captain Shubman Gill will join squad as assessment continues

Head coach Gautam Gambhir also noted that Gill remains under assessment, with further evaluation scheduled in Guwahati. India, trailing 0–1 in the two-match series, will be keen to have their skipper available for the crucial encounter, especially with the playing conditions prompting the unusual decision to schedule tea before lunch.

Curaçao Become Smallest Nation Ever to Qualify for FIFA World Cup

KINGSTON

Curaçao created one of football's greatest modern underdog stories by becoming the smallest nation by population ever to qualify for the FIFA World Cup. The Caribbean island, home to just 158,000 people, clinched their spot at the 2026 tournament with a tense 0–0 draw against Jamaica, surpassing Iceland's 2018 record for the least populous nation to reach the global finals.

The magnitude of the achievement is striking: Curaçao's population is roughly one-tenth that of Noida, which is set to touch one million residents, and minuscule compared to Delhi's 3.5 crore. Yet the Blue Wave delivered an unbeaten qualification campaign, topping Group B with 12 points under veteran Dutch coach Dick Advocaat, who missed the decisive match due to a family emergency. Their emphatic 7–0 win over Bermuda proved pivotal, giving them the edge over Jamaica by a single point.

The final night in Kingston produced gripping drama. Jamaica, coached by former England manager Steve McClaren, struck the woodwork three times and nearly scored in the 87th minute when Bailey-Tye Cadamarteri's header thudded off the post. In stoppage time, the hosts were awarded a penalty after Dujuan Richards went down, only for VAR to overturn the decision—triggering emotional celebrations on the Curaçao bench as players held on for the draw that changed their footballing destiny.

Five Indians Advance to Second Round at Australian Open Super 500

SYDNEY

Five Indian shuttlers, including top guns Lakshya Sen and HS Prannoy, marched into the second round of the USD 475,000 Australian Open Super 500 with confident wins on Wednesday, underlining India's depth in men's singles.

Lakshya, the 2021 World Championships bronze-medallist, produced a clinical 21-17, 21-13 victory over Chinese Taipei's Su Li Yang. The Commonwealth Games champion broke away early in both games, mixing sharp attack with steady defence, and sealed the match with a crisp cross-court winner. He will next face either Chi Yu Jen or Wang Tzu Wei.

Prannoy, runner-up here in 2023, displayed grit after a shaky start, overcoming world No.85 Yohanes Saut Marcellyno 6-21, 21-12, 21-17 in 57 minutes. The 33-year-old will next meet Indonesia's eighth seed Alwi Farhan.

World No.32 Ayush Shetty extended his recent rise with a commanding 21-11, 21-15 victory over Canada's Sam Yuan. The 20-year-old US Open Super 300 champion will face fourth seed Kodai Naraoka of Japan. Tharun Mannepalli fought through a tight 66-minute duel to beat Denmark's Magnus Johannesen 21-13, 17-21, 21-19. The 2023 National Games gold-medallist now faces fifth seed Lin Chun-Yi. Veteran Kidambi Srikanth, a former World Championships silver-medallist, displayed trademark resilience to edge past world No.20 Lee Chia Hao 21-19, 19-21, 21-15 in 64 minutes. Srikanth meets either Shogo Ogawa or Edward Lau next.

Kiran George pushed sixth seed Kenta Nishimoto to three games before falling 21-11, 22-24, 17-21. In mixed doubles, Mohit Jaglan and Lakshita Jaglan exited early after a 12-21, 16-21 loss to Canada's Nyl Yakura and Crystal Lai.

LAKSHYA SEN AND HS PRANNOY LEAD INDIA'S STRONG START IN SYDNEY CAMPAIGN

MATCH RESULTS INDIAN PLAYERS

- Lakshya Sen def. Su Li Yang - 21-17, 21-13
- HS Prannoy def. Yohanes Marcellyno - 6-21, 21-12, 21-17
- Ayush Shetty def. Sam Yuan - 21-11, 21-15
- Tharun Mannepalli def. Magnus Johannesen - 21-13, 17-21, 21-19
- Kidambi Srikanth def. Lee Chia Hao - 21-19, 19-21, 21-15

India lose to Bangladesh after 22 years

KOLKATA

India slumped to a 0–1 defeat against Bangladesh in Dhaka, their first loss to their neighbours in 22 years, continuing a dismal run in the 2027 Asian Cup qualifiers. The result leaves India as the only winless side in Group C after five matches and hands head coach Khalid Jamil his second straight defeat following last month's 1–2 loss to Singapore.

In front of over 23,000 fans at the National Stadium, Shekh Morsalin's 11th-minute strike settled the contest, finishing a swift Bangladesh counterattack that carved open India's defence. The goal also marked Bangladesh's first win over India since the 2003 SAFF Championship — also in Dhaka.

With both teams already out of contention for the finals, the match was largely about bragging rights. India, however, were left frustrated by Bangladesh's resolute defending and frequent game-management tactics, with goalkeeper Mitul Marma repeatedly going to ground to disrupt rhythm.

Jamil's side showed more urgency after the break, especially following the introduction of Mahesh Naorem as a No.10. Debutant Mohammed Sanan, brought on in the second half, provided India's best moments going forward. Five minutes after coming on, Sanan picked out Brison Fernandes with a precise cross, only for the midfielder to head wide from close range.

India had earlier come close through Rahul Bheke, who nodded wide from a Suresh Wangjam free-kick, and Rahim Ali, who narrowly missed a tap-in. Sanan later tested Marma with a low effort from distance and also cleverly stopped a Bangladesh counter, taking a tactical booking.

Refereeing decisions added to India's frustrations, particularly when Vikram Partap Singh was pulled back without a foul being awarded. India's best opportunity, however, came in the 30th minute when Marma's misjudgement left the goal exposed, but Lallianzuala Chhangte's lob was headed away by Hamza Choudhury.

Bangladesh's winner stemmed from an India corner: Rakib Hossain beat Akash Mishra and delivered an outside-of-the-boot pass to an unmarked Morsalin, who nutmegged Gurpreet Singh Sandhu to seal a historic victory.
